Town Meeting takes 3 nights; turnout not great

By Don Staruk

Voters did not come out in the numbers expected the first night of Town Meeting, Monday, but the 1,692 who attended went right to work and efficiently moved through the first 21 articles on the warrant.

The biggest story of the first night was the approval of Article 20, the $40.5 million school construction article. Voters also approved a town budget of $60.2 million after cutting just $10,000 from it.

Only 640 attended the second night of Town Meeting, Tuesday, when voters quickly passed a pooper-scooper bylaw amendment in the closest vote of the two evenings (249-224), and turned down the paving of Alderbrook Road.

Although many more voters attended Monday's meeting

May 17 debt-exclusion override – the final hurdle

Essentially voting themselves a voluntary tax increase, residents of Andover showed vocal and overwhelming support for the $40.5 million school building project at Town Meeting Monday night.

However, the project has one more test to pass if it is to be funded. The town will vote May 17 on a 20-year debt-exclusion override of Proposition 2 ½.

"I think that we've always known Town Meeting is a barometer, but the ballot vote is the more difficult of the two," said Dick Muller, School Committee chairman.

There will be two questions on the ballot, as a result of a Service for widows to cover town

By Neil Fater

The death of a spouse can be indescribably difficult. But, even worse, it can be the focal point of a much larger heartache.

"You become shut off, very lonely," said Andover resident Mary Furnari. "You feel as though you don't fit."

Sometimes, particularly for those widowed at an early age, there seems to be no one who understands. It is difficult to know who to trust.

That's where Ms. Furnari and Pauline Durant, also of Andover, come in. Both were recently elected members of the board of directors for Widowed Persons Service, an all-volunteer organization partially sponsored by the American Association of Retired Persons. The two plan to expand the coverage of WPS to serve the Andover-North Andover area.

WPS is a free service staffed by male and female volunteers who have been widowed for at least 18 months. Each volunteer has participated in a five-day, three-hour-a-day course and is trained to offer one-on-one support to newly-widowed people.

Until now, Ms. Furnari and Ms. Durant have been volunteering in the Acton area. Both are trained to help people cope with the emotional and financial adjustments associated with the loss of a love one, and refer people to the proper professionals.

"People find it harder to talk to their own family, because they haven't been in the same boat," said Ms. Durant. "Unless you've

Raspberries closes

By Don Staruk

Raspberries Eatery at 46 Main St. closed its doors last week after eight years of serving breakfast and lunch to downtown business people and shoppers.

Raspberries' closing came just one week after the closing of Ford's Coffee Shop, which shut its doors just one block up the street April 2, after more than 40 years in business.

"Actually, with the sign on the door now, we're closed," Dana Wilson, Raspberries' owner, said Friday afternoon. "We are receding from public view and going into corporate catering."

Mr. Wilson blamed Raspberries' closing on his inability to reach a new lease agreement with Irving Kaplan of Newton, the building's owner. Regina's Gifts, at 44 Main St., is in the same building.

Raspberries' lease is up at the end of this week. Mr. Kaplan would probably have settled for $24 a square foot for the space, according to Mr. Wilson, but Mr. Wilson said that was too much money.

"Our effort to re-negotiate the lease has failed," Mr. Wilson said. "We were hoping right up until the last moment - until yesterday - that we would get a settlement."

Mr. Kaplan said Friday that he thought Mr. Wilson's math was a little bit off regarding what he wants for the building, saying $24 was high.

"If I could get that I'd be very happy," Mr. Kaplan said.

Mr. Kaplan said he doesn't know what will happen to the property. "At the moment I have no idea," he said.

Mr. Wilson operates Chandler-Abbott Food Services Co. Inc., a corporate catering business out of Raspberries and that business will continue. After finishing out this week using the kitchen at Raspberries, Mr. Wilson plans to suspend catering operations for a couple of weeks and take some time off before re-opening the catering business May 15 in a corporate facility at Avid Technology Inc., a high-tech video editing company at 1 Park West in Tewksbury. The company employs 500 people.

"We will be their food service operator," Mr. Wilson said.

He does corporate catering for Brickstone Square in Shawshen Village, and will eventually resettle into facilities at Brickstone, he said.

"Eventually we'll be in there full scale," he said.

One thing that was very difficult at Raspberries was feeding so many people from such a small space, he said.

"Going into Brickstone will be like going into the major leagues, like Pawtucket going into Fenway Park," Mr. Wilson said. "We are evolving from a small Main-Street cafe to a small food service company. On the one hand it's sad to leave this here, but on the other hand it's a great opportunity."

"The whole fabric of downtown has changed over the last eight years," Mr. Wilson said.

Many of the businesses that used to be in town have moved to Brickstone Square, including The Network from South Main Street; John Hancock from Chestnut Street and The North East Documentation Center from School Street.

Mr. Wilson said he wasn't sure what would happen to the so-called "Young Republicans," the group of liberal town watchdogs who often meet at Raspberries to debate morality and the day's issues.

EXTRA edition of the Townsmen, dated Friday, April 15, will be on sale at news stands early Friday morning. It will not be mailed to subscribers.

DISTANT RELATIONS

How can it be explained that chiropractic treatment for neck pain also may result in improvement of a chronic sinus problem? The answer rests with the fact that the nerves that supply energy to the sinuses exit the spinal cord in the region of the neck. If chiropractic treatment for neck pain relieves a restriction in this nerve supply, the sinuses may benefit as well as the neck. All this serves to illustrate the fact that the back may be implicated in the treatment of tissue or an organ in a seemingly unrelated area of the body. This is the reason why the chiropractor may involve the back in the treatment of pain and/or disease, regardless of where it manifests itself in the body.

We can help many areas of the body improve naturally, with the aid of chiropractic. We don't just treat back problems. Please call for more information or an appointment at DeLorenzo Chiropractic Group, 475-5042, at your convenience. We offer natural and safe care for the entire family and accept only those patients we sincerely feel we can help. Our office is located at 15 Central Street.

P.S. If chronic conditions have not responded well to other treatments, give chiropractic a try.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Nancy Larsen heads Historical Society

Nancy Larsen was elected president of the Andover Historical Society at its 83rd annual meeting on Wednesday, April 6. The evening began with the opening of the new exhibition, "Andover's Ethnic Heritage: Keeping the Past Alive," on view through October.

Reports were given by James Batchelder, president; Karen Koch-Weser, treasurer; Barbara Thibault, director; Thomas Edmonds, curator; and Margaret Hughes, assistant to the director.

In addition to Ms. Larsen, the following officers, whose terms will begin July 1, were elected: Larry Wangerin, first vice president; Priscilla Alden, second vice president; Karen Koch-Weser, treasurer; Anna Gesing, assistant treasurer; Karen Herman, recording secretary; and Robin Sung, corresponding secretary. New Directors elected are Eartha Dengler, Wesley Grace, Catherine Murphy, Brendan Roche and Rebecca Willett. Ongoing directors are Elaine Bailey, James K. Dow, Norma Gammon, Warren Lewis, Joanne Marden, Susan Montgomery and Ned Williams.

Mr. Batchelder thanked and presented certificates to outgoing board members Cornelia LeMaitre, Susan Tucker and Hanne Castle. Ms. Larsen presented Mr. Batchelder with a certificate for his many years of service at Andover Historical Society.

Sculptress to work during Earth Week

In celebration of Earth Week, local artist Joan Ellis has been asked to create an original sculpture on the brick patio of Old Town Hall on Main Street.

The project has been designed so that local children can participate throughout Earth Week.

The base of the sculpture will be made of recycled materials including steel, wood and chicken wire and will be in the shape of a huge dinosaur. Children are asked to save plastic grocery bags and bring them to the work site where they will be woven through the holes in the chicken wire and tied.

Ms. Ellis is a well-known professional artist with a special interest in using recycled materials. She has done many large scale projects in the area including artist-in-residence programs at many elementary schools and a Legacy Mural at Doherty Middle School. She also teaches classes through the Child Care Circuit in Lawrence and volunteers at the Historical Society.

She lives in Andover with her husband, Stephen, son, Peter, a ninth-grader at AHS, daughter, Jessica, a seventh-grader at Doherty Middle School.

Weather permitting, Ms. Ellis will work on the sculpture from Tuesday through Friday, April 26-30, between 10 and noon and 2 to 4 p.m. Children of all ages and their parents are welcome to participate.

Senator O'Brien plans local hours April 20

State Senator John D. O'Brien, D-Andover, will hold office hours Wednesday, April 20, at the Andover Senior Citizen Center on Bartlett St. from 10 to 11 a.m. and at Memorial Hall Library on Elm Square from 6 to 7 p.m.

Counseling on health benefits is free to seniors

Elder Services of the Merrimack Valley Inc., in partnership with local Councils on Aging, is offering free health benefits counseling services to individuals age 60 and up.

The Serving Health Information Needs of Elders (SHINE) Program is comprised of trained and certified benefits counselors versed in Medicare Part A and Part B, Long Term Care insurance options, HMOs for seniors and private and supplemental insurance.

SHINE counselors can assist elders in filing claims and appeals and provide resource and referral information specific to health insurance benefits. SHINE services are available at the Councils on Aging in Andover and other communities. For more information, call Elaine Rotolo, regional SHINE coordinator, at 683-7747.

What's happening Monday, Patriot's Day? Early deadlines

Monday, April 18, is Patriot's Day. The Townsmen office will be open, but the paper will have early deadlines for news and display advertising, which are due tomorrow, Friday, at noon. The deadline for classified ads remains the same - Tuesday at noon.

Trash pickup will be delayed by one day.

The following are open Monday: grocery stores, banks, liquor stores, post offices and most retail stores.

The following are closed: town offices, public schools, Memorial Hall Library and the Senior Center.

High Street development gets initial nod from town boards

By Don Staruk

The town last week reached an agreement with developer Ken Ahern that would allow construction of two house lots on High Street, but a neighbor's appeal of a Conservation Commission decision on the project could still delay construction for several months.

Mr. Ahern wants to create two lots out of the six or seven lots he owns at 88-92 High St. Because the construction could leave the area vulnerable to erosion that could threaten the stability of High Street, the town wants to get a stabilization bond from Mr. Ahern to protect the town's interests.

Following an inspection of the site last week by an official of the state Department of Environmental Protection, Mr. Ahern met with town officials and volunteered to put up the $25,000 bond the town requested, according to Stephen Colyer, town planning director. But a decision from DEP on the appeal of the ConsCom decision could take anywhere from a week to two months.

"It's probably going to be a couple of months anyway," Mr. Colyer said.

One of the things the DEP inspector was checking on the site was any sign of hazardous waste, but he didn't find any, according to Everett Penney, health director. Donal Coleman, of 91 High St. and who filed the appeal with DEP, told selectmen last month that the site may have once been used as a dump.

Tough lots

The lots are on the west side of High Street, across from Flint Circle. They are well below street level and would require 18 feet of fill to be brought in to make a level spot for the homes, more fill than has ever been brought into a house lot in Andover, according to Mr. Colyer.

One of the town's concerns is the sequencing of getting 4,000 yards of fill into the site. At eight trucks an hour for eight hours a day, it would take five days to get that amount of fill into the site.

The developer has asked the Massachusetts Bay Transit Authority for permission to use an access road along side the railroad tracks to get the initial equipment into the site. If allowed, the equipment would access the tracks off High Street just south of Harding Street, and travel north along the tracks under the Harding Street bridge to the site. That equipment would then be used to push a small knoll on the site up to High Street to construct the driveways. The fill for the house lots would then be brought in directly from High Street.

The driveways would require cutting through the guardrail and removing trees and other vegetation that currently stabilize the embankment. Both houses would require a sewer pump to get the sewerage up to street level. Because of wetlands in the area, three house lots at most could be carved out of the six or seven lots, according to Mr. Colyer, which means Mr. Ahern could come back in the future with a plan for a third lot.

"It's a tough little site," Mr. Colyer said.

ConsCom appealed

The Conservation Commission approved the proposal for the two lots last month with an order of conditions. Mr. Coleman appealed that decision and told selectmen that the project could put the town at risk whether the homes are ever built or not.

Raspberries closes its doors

Mr. Wilson said he will take some time off to do some fishing and spend some time at Fenway Park with the Red Sox. He said this is the first year in several years he hasn't put up his original 1967 poster of former Red Sox pitcher Jim Lonborg. He usually puts it up each year on opening day.

Raspberries employees will stay with the catering business. They include Jane Gorrie, who has been with the eatery "forever" and who Mr. Wilson called "a junior Stella," referring to Stella Koravos, co-owner of Ford's; and Tiffany Todd, who has been with the store eight years, since she was 15.

Mr. Wilson, and his wife, Frances Young, ran the kitchen at the Blackburn Tavern in Gloucester before opening Raspberries here eight years ago. Mr. Wilson took a sabbatical a few years ago to work for the Gardner Merchant Food Service Inc. at Harvard Graduate School of Design in Cambridge, before returning to Raspberries.

Widowed Persons . . .

been through it you can't know what it is like."

Both Ms. Furnari and Ms. Durant lost their husbands, Fred and George, respectively, in their early 50s, and experienced the resulting emotions and problems.

"There's a lot of anger involved," said Ms. Furnari. "Death is painful no matter what age it happens at."

Ms. Durant said volunteers also understand depression and can help fight it.

Friends and co-workers, unable to find the words and uncomfortable with the situation, often inadvertently leave the newly-widowed person even more alone.

"Even at the wake people say, 'You'll be fine. We'll call you. We'll have lunch.' They never call, because they don't know what to say," said Ms. Durant. "They don't mean it. They just don't know what to say."

Then different type of calls may start. Legitimate business people and con artists alike telephone, looking to manage money matters.

"I was widowed seven and a half years ago, I think prematurely. I was a traditional homemaker," said Ms. Furnari. "I find women are particularly hard-hit by the financial aspect."

In part because of such phone calls and solicitations, some people do not immediately respond to the offers of WPS volunteers. According to Ms. Durant, WPS first contacts widows and widowers with a letter and then follows up with a telephone call.

"Sometimes people don't trust. It's very hard to break through," said Ms. Furnari. "People are always skeptical - widowed people especially - that there's an organization like this."

"Because they're afraid of being left alone. There are so many scams. We always get phone calls. As soon as they find out you're widowed," said Ms. Durant.

Just as there are no time limits on the grieving process, Ms. Durant said there are no limits on the amount of time a volunteer can and will spend with a newly-widowed person.

"As long as it takes," she said. "It's just enough (for them) to have a listening ear, a contact who's in the same boat. Someone who's been there."

"It's more of an outreach program. We're trying to get this area serviced. So what we're looking for are volunteers," said Ms. Furnari. "I firmly believe in this, just because it wasn't there when I needed it."

The Widowed Persons Service will hold its next training session for outreach volunteers on May 2, 3, 5, 9, and 10; 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Acton Burger King Training Center, Route 2-A.

Sodium level in drinking water is above state guidelines

By Neil Fater

The record snow fall and harsh temperatures of the winter months have not only taken their toll on Andover roadways, but on the water supply as well.

Presumably because of the salt used on the highways and roads, the sodium content of the water supply is above the state-recommended level. A February test of the sodium level in Andover's water showed one liter of water contains 36 milligrams, above the state guideline of 28 mg/L.

No treatment required

The state does not require treatment of water above this level. "Rather, the guideline represents a level of sodium in water that physicians and sodium-sensitive individuals should be aware of in cases where sodium exposures are being carefully controlled," according to a statement by David Terry, director of the state division of water supply.

Andover has been above the recommended sodium level for several years. However, because of the salt used on the roads after storms, Bob McQuade, public works director, said the sodium level is typically higher at the end of the winter months by approximately 4 mg/L.

Nothing new

Everett Penney, the town's health director, estimated the town's sodium level for the winter months has been "33-35 (mg/L) for probably the last seven years, six years, which is probably where we were in January. They (DPW) test four times a year and average it for the year."

According to Mr. Penney, the state guideline was raised from 20 mg/L to 28 mg/L in January 1993 to match the bottled water standard that was a part of the Department of Public Health regulations.

Andover averaged 29 mg/L in 1993, 1992, and 1991, according to Mr. McQuade. The two tests for 1994 have shown levels at 28 and 36 mg/L or parts per million.

"We run sodium (tests) on our water supply and the last quarter it was up a little, which it normally is. The other three quarters it will drop down," said Mr. McQuade.

The well water on Andover

Street is tested by the state and is not a part of the Andover system.

"The only time it becomes a concern is for someone on a low-sodium diet," said Mr. Penney. "But those numbers, even in the 30-40 range, are very low-level compared to the contents of food - say soda pop or a Big Mac."

White bread

Two slices of white bread could contain nearly 300 mg of sodium, or a hot dog 400-800 mg, for instance, according to information provided by the state Department of Public Health. A can of diet cola usually contains 20 mg.

"It's all relative. Every individual reacts differently to" varied levels of sodium, said Mr. Penney. "There's no danger level that I know of, or unhealthy level that I know of, established by the state."

In large part because of the difficult winter, one might expect the sodium level this year to be higher than usual. According to Mr. McQuade, in 1993, there were 11 storms and the town sanded 20 times, using approximately 5,000 tons of salt. This year, because of the frigid weather and 14 storms, the town sanded a whopping 49 times, using a roughly estimated 6,000 tons of salt.

State highways

However, both Mr. McQuade and Mr. Penney said that the increased sodium level in the water supply is more likely due to the salting of state highways, rather than town streets.

"(Routes) 495 and 93 wrap around Haggetts Pond, and if we have any problem it's from the highways and not local roads," said Mr. McQuade.

Mr. Penney said that the town Board of Health has discussed asking the state to create a reduced salt area around Haggetts Pond to lower the sodium level in the drinking water, and that he had approached Mr. McQuade about the idea.

"I think he thought it would be difficult to do," said Mr. Penney. "Nevertheless, it was something the board asked him to pursue."

Mr. McQuade did not wish to comment at this time.

Mr. McQuade said Andover uses only salt and sand on its roads.

Shawsheen River

How's the water table?

In a related matter, he said that he did not expect this winter's precipitation to cause flooding of the Shawsheen River.

"We had some flooding about a month ago. Since then we've had a drying period with some rain in between. Right now we don't expect any flooding in Andover," said Mr. McQuade. "I would say that we are slightly above normal in the water table for this time of year."

Volunteers needed to clean YMCA area during Earth Week

Once again the Environmental Action Group of the Andovers (EAGA) is joining forces with the Andover/North Andover YMCA to clean up the YMCA and its environs, between Doctor's Park and Burger King, for Earth Week '94.

The dates volunteers are needed are Friday, April 29, from noon to 3 p.m., and Saturday, April 30, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The YMCA is offering free childcare for all helpers during these time periods. Any questions or to register, call Christine Davis at 475-3825.

Environmental Action Group of the Andovers was formed prior to last year's Earth Day clean-up and is involved in various environmental concerns in the Andovers and the Merrimack Valley.

The group meets on the last Wednesday of every month.

For further information, call Geoff Davis, founder, at 475-3825.

ZBA turns down land trust for a house on River Road

By Don Staruk

The Zoning Board of Appeals last Saturday, April 9, voted to deny Andover Community Trust's petition for a variance to construct a single-family home on an undersize lot at 28 River Road.

The lot was to be the subject of a warrant article for Town Meeting asking the town to accept the land as a gift in lieu of $2,200 owed in property taxes. The article was withdrawn after its owners, John and Julia Tomzak of North Andover, opted instead to give the land to Andover Community Trust, a land trust created to provide affordable housing for low income families. ACT had hoped to build one home on the lot, according to its president, Susan Stott.

But in a straw vote Saturday, five ZBA members voted unanimously not to allow the variance needed to build on the lot.

The 10,500-square-foot lot is in an area that requires one-acre lots. It also lacks sufficient frontage.

'On my part, I'm disappointed, but now we have to figure out where we go from here.'

Susan Stott, president of the Andover Community Trust

Several neighbors attended a public hearing on the proposal held by the Zoning Board of Appeals on Thursday, April 7, and spoke against the petition. The arguments were that the land is wet, has poor drainage, is undersized and lacks the required frontage.

Zoning board members visited the site on Saturday before taking their vote.

"They felt that the lot was just too small," Ms. Stott said.

"On my part, I'm disappointed, but now we have to figure out where we go from here," Ms. Stott said Tuesday.

ACT has paid $178 owed for the Fiscal 1994 taxes. Another $2,022 in taxes is owed for 1991-1993.

Options

Ms. Stott said the group could do nothing and allow the land to be taken by the town. Someone also suggested that it might be able to be combined with town-owned land of an abutting right-of-way to give it the frontage it needs, Ms. Stott said. Neighbors have also expressed interest in the land in the past and may still be interested in buying it, she said.

The ACT board of directors will meet next week to discuss their options, Ms. Stott said.

One concern of Mr. Coleman's and some of his neighbors is that, because the lots are so difficult to build on, the developer may abandon the site after clearing the land and dumping the fill, leaving a mess for the town to clean up. Another fear is that, if the house are built, the town could be liable for future problems, such as drainage, sewer problems, vibration from the nearby rail tracks, landslides and the like, because it would have issued the required permits.

What next?

Approval of the project is not required by the Planning Board at this point because the lots are "Form-A lots" with frontage on a public way, High Street. If and when the appeal fails, the next thing to happen on the project would be the posting of the bond. Then the driveways would be built.

Then Planning

Board approval would be needed to change the lot lines to accommodate the location of the two homes.

A few words on winter damage to evergreens.

Due to the heavy amount of road salt used this winter, roadside evergreens have shown widespread damage. Road salt is very phytotoxic to most plants, but conifers (i.e. hemlocks) are especially susceptible to catching the salt spray. Unfortunately, the foliage is killed outright, but the buds may still be alive. Wait until the new growth has begun before any attempt at pruning is done. Call me if you have a question.

Edward Deevey

Edward Deevey has written a forthcoming book on high performance work organizations. The book, with the working title, Winning Through Rapid Response Management, is scheduled for publication by Prentice-Hall in late 1994.

Mr. Deevey advocates abandoning traditional bureaucratic management in favor of a totally new "rapid response" way of doing business. The book contains specific strategies for transforming older companies into high-performance work organizations.

Founder and president of Deevey Gilligan International, a research and consulting firm based in North Andover, Mr. Deevey was formerly an associate professor at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. His book is based on work with more than 100 companies in the United States and Europe.

Dan Lynch

Dan Lynch, son of James and Anne Lynch of Andover, has recently been promoted at Williams College in Williamstown, where he teaches biology. He has received the rank of associate professor with tenure, effective July 1, 1995.

Mr. Lynch graduated from Andover High School in 1975. He received his bachelor's degree from the University of Lowell in 1979 and his Ph.D. in botany from the University of Texas in 1983.

He was an assistant professor and senior research associate in the department of agronomy at Cornell University before coming to Williams in 1989. He teaches introductory biology and courses on various aspects of biochemistry in the biology department and the biochemistry and molecular biology program.

Mr. Lynch has published more than 30 articles on plant physiology and biochemistry, many of which explore the function and metabolism of plant membranes. He received a National Science Foundation grant in 1990 for work on sphingolipid metabolism in plants and previously received research support from the U.S. Department of Energy and U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Ed 'Buzz' Rouillard

Jean Fitzgerald and Pamela Lebowitz, owners of Century 21 Carriage House, recently announced that Ed "Buzz" Rouillard has joined their sales team.

Mr. Rouillard graduated the Williams College of Banking with a bachelor's degree in business administration from Northeastern University. Mr. Rouillard has had 12 years experience in product management, marketing, sales and customer service.

A resident of Andover and former resident of North Andover, he has been active in youth sports programs in both towns and was treasurer of the Free Christian Church of Andover.

Mr. Rouillard and his wife, Barbara, a sales consultant with Century 21 Carriage House for the past three years, will work as a team.

"Our customers and clients will get two realtors for the price of one," explained Mr. Rouillard. "We believe that the team concept ensures personalized service; one or the other of us will always be available."

Sara Cooper, daughter of Ronald and Rebecca Cooper and a senior at Phillips Academy, has been named a semifinalist in the 1994 Presidential Scholars Program. The approximately 2,600 semi-finalists were selected from more than 2.5 million students expected to graduate from U.S. high schools this year. From these semifinalists, 141 will be selected as 1994 Presidential Scholars.

The Presidential Scholars Program is the highest federal honor bestowed upon graduating high school seniors. Scholars are selected on the basis of superior academic achievements, leadership qualities, strong character and involvement in community and school activities.

Marcus DeLoach of Andover has been chosen to attend the Music Academy of the West in Santa Barbara, Calif., this summer. He received a scholarship to participate in the voice program, which includes opera, musical theater singing, acting and art song interpretation. Only 25 applicants for the vocal program are selected to participate. In order to qualify, singers had to prepare six pieces for audition from a predetermined list, one opera aria and five art songs covering three languages. Mr. DeLoach will participate in opera and art-song master classes where singers are coached for performance, then publicly critiqued after performing by members of the faculty. He will also receive private lessons and coaching sessions and perform in opera and Broadway musical programs.

The Music Academy of the West was founded in 1947 by a group of Southern California musicians and arts patrons. The intention was to establish a summer music school of the highest quality, a training program that would produce the best instrumentalists and vocalists. Alumni have performed with the Metropolitan Opera and hold positions in virtually all major orchestras in the United States. This year academy alumnus, baritone Thomas Hampson, will be the guest artist.

Mr. DeLoach is a 1992 graduate of Andover High School, where he participated in concerts, musicals and theater productions. He attended the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston and is in his sophomore year at The Juilliard School in New York City, where he studies with Edward Zambara. Mr. DeLoach recently performed in the Juilliard Opera Theater production of Benjamin Britten's opera The Burning Fiery Furnace.

a Springfield, Mo., soup kitchen. Mr. Vining was one of 70 Saint Michael's College students who traveled to eight sites across the country to learn firsthand what it is like to be hungry, homeless or neglected. He is a first-year business administration major at Saint Michael's, located in Colchester, Vt.

Mr. Vining helped prepare meals and worked with several church groups and a children's program. He participated in an intensive training period of lectures, workshops and reading to prepare for the trip. Upon returning to college, he is attending follow-up sessions and continues writing essays about his experience.

Trina Blaney Norton, a senior from Andover, has been named a student ambassador at Roger Williams University in Bristol, R.I. She is the daughter of Perry Colmore of Chestnut Street and Nathaniel Norton of Vermont.

Student ambassadors serve as tour guides and hosts and hostesses for special events and assist in new student orientation.

Tim Ammon, son of Mary and R. William Ammon of Andover, has been inducted into Phi Alpha Theta national honor society in history.

Phi Alpha Theta is restricted to collegiate juniors and seniors with a high scholastic average and interest in the study and teaching of history.

The North Andover High School graduate is a junior majoring in history and education at Salisbury State University in Salisbury, Md.

He also plays varsity football.

Jennifer Galvin, a sophomore at Tufts University, recently sang under the guest direction of Jester Hairston with the Tufts University Chorale. Mr. Hairston, a stage, radio and television personality, is the oldest living graduate of Tufts University. He was invited to direct the chorale presenting all his original works. The program was in celebration of the African-American music concert.

Karyn L. Baker, daughter of Clinton and Peggy Baker, formerly of Seville Road, was named to Phi Beta Kappa at the University of Massachusetts Amherst.

Phi Beta Kappa honors undergraduate students of outstanding academic achievement in the humanities and fine arts, natural sciences and mathematics and social and behavioral sciences. Founded in 1776, the national honor society recognizes excellence at the undergraduate level. The chapter at UMass was founded in 1963.

REDUCING THE RISK OF ORAL

Several studies have pointed to vitamin E as a key factor in reducing the risk of certain cancers. Now, comes the first study to show that vitamin E can cut the risk of developing oral cancer. This conclusion is based on a study of 1,300 healthy people. The National Cancer Institute. When the vitamin E supplement was given to both groups was studied, it was found that there was a two-fold reduction in risk for developing oral cancer. The amount of vitamin E in general supplements is relatively low, the most beneficial effect was seen in those who took a dedicated vitamin E supplement. Patients themselves from oral cancer by having regular exams.

Don't take chances with your health, don't have unexplained, unusual symptoms, call us before they occur. If you don't have a family doctor, call us at 475-2431. April is Cancer Awareness Month. April is sponsored by the American Cancer Society. We are here at 296 Lowell Street, Rt 133, with support of our nation's fight against cancer. P.S. About 75 percent of all oral cancers are caused by tobacco use and alcohol consumption.

ON CAMPUS

They are: Warren S. Empey of 73 Maple Ave., Jane J. Kim of 10 Cardinal Lane and Stephanie A. Rogers of 6 Marie Drive.

Three Andover students have been named to dean's list or dean's honors for the 1993-'94 fall semester at Connecticut College in New London, Conn. They are: Christopher P. Bloh and Rebecca A. Poulo, dean's list; and Noel J. Slodoba, dean's honors.

Amanda B. Gulezian of Andover has been named to the Clark University dean's list for outstanding achievement during the fall 1993 semester.

Charles E. Heseltine of Andover, son of George and Helen Heseltine, was among the 205 graduate and undergraduate students awarded degrees from Western New England College in Springfield on Feb. 15.

Mr. Heseltine received a bachelor of science degree in law enforcement.

Students named to the 1994 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges from Drew University include Christopher Klein of Andover.

Beverly R. Koch of Andover, a biology/biotechnology major at Worcester Polytechnic Institute in Worcester, is part of the institute's music group that performed in Prague and Vienna. Ms. Koch is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Koch of Andover.

The Concert Band and the Brass, Jazz and String ensembles performed March 6 in Majakovskij Hall in the National House at Vinohrady in Prague; on March 7 in Cesky Krumlov Castle Concert Hall; and on March 9 in the Festival Hall of Hohen Technische Bundes-Lehr-und Versuchsanstalt.

Paul M. Lembo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas P. Lembo of Andover, has been named to the dean's list at Muhlenberg College in Allentown, Pa., for the 1993 fall semester. The business major is a graduate of Andover High School.

Kristin McAllister of 8 Korinthian Way, a second-year architecture student at Tulane School of Architecture, has been named to the dean's list for the fall 1993 semester.

Meaghan P. Nix, the daughter of Grover H. and Marcia A. Nix, has been named to the dean's list at the University of Notre Dame for outstanding scholarship during the 1993 fall semester.

The 1990 Phillips Academy graduate is a senior majoring in government and the Hesburgh Program in Public Service in the university's College of Arts and Letters.

Brandeis University junior Michael A. Robinson was among 20 college students recently named to USA Today's 1994 All-USA College Academic Third Team and saluted as one of the nation's "best and brightest college students."

Sixty students were chosen from 1,183 applicants. They were nominated by their schools and chosen by a panel of educators on the basis of academic talent, creativity and leadership.

The physics major from Andover has already earned a string of honors at Brandeis, which is located in Waltham. Last summer, he was one of 14 interns chosen for NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center. He is also president of the Brandeis Crew Club.

While he says he wants to keep his options open, Mr. Robinson plans to earn a doctorate in physics and become a research professor. "I know I want to be a teacher," he said.

Working under professor of astrophysics David H. Roberts, his mentor in the undergraduate fellows program, Mr. Robinson is teaching a special enrichment section for first-year physics students. He has created a set of assignments designed to teach students to solve physics problems with the aid of computers.

Mr. Robinson has a passion for rowing. Most mornings soon after dawn, ice conditions permitting, he and his teammates train on the Charles River. Seven races are scheduled this spring, he said.

Patricia L. Squibb, daughter of Irwin and Doris Squibb of 69 Harold Parker Road, has been named to the dean's list at Salem State College for the fall 1993 semester. She is a senior majoring in elementary education with a minor in psychology.

The following students from Andover have also been named to the dean's list at Salem State College: Julie A. Arsenault, Kimberly G. Hall, Louise M. Hitchko, Nicole M. Mercier, Anne C. Tedford and Robert E. Isbell.

Several studies have pointed to vitamin E's ability to lower the risk of certain cancers. Now, comes the first evidence that vitamin E can cut the risk of developing oral (including pharyngeal) cancer. This conclusion is based on a study of 1,100 people with oral cancer and 1,300 healthy people by researchers at the National Cancer Institute. When the vitamin and mineral intake of both groups was studied, it was found that vitamin E offered a two-fold reduction in risk for developing oral cancer. Because the amount of vitamin E in general supplements and natural foods is relatively low, the most beneficial effect was found to be a dedicated vitamin E supplement. Patients can also help protect themselves from oral cancer by having regular professional oral exams.

Schindler's List survivor to speak at Phillips Academy

The Jewish Student Union and the Office of Multi-Cultural Affairs and Community Development at Phillips Academy will present Rena Finder on Friday, April 15, at 8 p.m. in the Tang Theater.

Ms. Finder will share a reminiscence "I Survived on Schindler's List."

Ms. Finder, an only child, and her mother were saved from the gas chambers during World War II by Oscar Schindler, a German industrialist whose story is told in Steven Spielberg's film Schindler's List. If it were not for Mr. Schindler they and 1,100 other Jews would have perished at the hands of the Nazis. Ms. Finder was born in Krakow, Poland, in 1929. She survived the Krakow ghetto, Plaszow concentration camp, Auschwitz, and the Brinlitz factory in Czechoslovakia.

"How do you say thank you to someone who saves your life?" asks Ms. Finder. As a lecturer and resource speaker for the Holocaust Center of the North Shore and Facing History and Ourselves, her way is to talk about him.

Ms. Finder is married to Marcel Finder, a Holocaust survivor. They have three daughters and six grandchildren.

Vacation workshops at Museum of Textile History

The Museum of American Textile

History will offer school vacation workshops April 20-22 from 9 a.m. to noon for boys and girls ages 8-12.

Instructor Margaret Scott will teach the fundamentals of weaving on Wednesday, April 20. Participants will complete a wall hanging of their own design. Students will complete a straw basket on Thursday and print designs on T-shirts, using paint and carved wooden blocks, on Friday.

Cost for one session is $12, two workshops are $20 and registration for all three is $32. To register, send a check to the Museum of American Textile History, 800 Massachusetts Ave., North Andover. All materials are provided.

Call the museum at 686-0191 for information.

THE REAL ESTATE CORNER

EXPLORING A REAL ESTATE CAREER

Are you highly motivated? Are you a "people person"? Do you prefer unlimited earning capacity to the certainty of a modest pay check on a 9 to 5 job? Do you have good communication skills? Do you enjoy the prestige that goes with being a successful professional? If you can answer yes to these questions, you should consider a career in real estate sales.

Selling real estate is not for everyone. Purchase agreements are among the most complicated contracts most people encounter, and there is a lot to learn. You must work hard and learn to understand how people operate under the stress of buying or selling a home. There is a lot of responsibility. Our agents are serving a most basic human need, and they must offer highly skilled professional assistance involving large amounts of money and our client's most valuable assets - their homes. To make it in this business, you must be not only competitive, but very, very competent.

For solid advice on buying or selling real estate, consult the professionals at Century 21 Carriage House. Please call us at 475-1243, or stop by our office at 10 High Street.

Middle-school students wanted for night of fun

Wanted: Middle-school students of Andover for a night of fun, recreation and fitness.

Spring Fling is sponsored by the Andona Society and Andover/North Andover YMCA especially for middle-school students.

It is designed as a recreational event, to be held at the Andover/North Andover YMCA Saturday, April 16, from 8 to 11:30 p.m. A variety of activities will include swim, aerobics demonstration, basketball, volleyball and access to the game lounge and mat room. Refreshments will be served and a dance will be held at 10 p.m.

Members of the boys and girls varsity basketball and volleyball teams from Andover High School will attend with members of the high school's GUTS group (Growing Up Taking a Stand against drug and alcohol abuse).

Permission slips signed by parents will be required. Blank permission slips are available in Andover schools.

Those who have not obtained permission slips in advance may obtain them at the door and have their parents sign them there.

For more information, call Joan Sweeney at 470-1508.

Rep. Meehan nominates 3 Andover students to U.S. service academies

U.S. Rep. Marty Meehan, D-Lowell, has recommended 29 Fifth District students, including three from Andover, for appointments to U.S. service academies. The Andover students are Alexander Orbon, Air Force; Andrew Shulman, Annapolis; and Richard Crispo, West Point.

U.S. Rep.
Marty Meehan,
D-Lowell

As a member of Congress, Rep. Meehan has the authority to nominate up to 10 Fifth District high school seniors for acceptance to each of the academies, U.S. Naval (Annapolis), Military (West Point) or Air Force. A congressional nomination is considered the key opening the door for admission to these academies.

Rep. Meehan chose a competitive process in selecting students for a nomination. Students who applied for a nomination competed with each other in the areas of academic standing, extracurricular activities, Scholastic Aptitude Test scores and community service. Each student was interviewed by an independent screening committee appointed by Rep. Meehan that recommended those students who appeared the most qualified for academy acceptance.

"All of these students, whether they are ultimately accepted by an academy or not, deserve a lot of credit for the outstanding work they have done over the last several years," Rep. Meehan said. "Every one of them has a record to be proud of and should enjoy a very successful career, regardless of which path they choose." The students, who now are competing against hundreds of other seniors across the country also nominated, will learn this spring whether they received an appointment.

Y plans Healthy Kids Day

YMCA Healthy Kids Day, a nationwide celebration of youth, family health and fitness, will be held Saturday, April 23, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Andover/North Andover YMCA, 165 Haverhill St.

Healthy Kids Day gives families an opportunity to swim, exercise and have fun together.

Swimming, fitness classes, safety demonstrations, karate classes and a three-mile fitness walk are a few of the activities that are planned.

Recent studies show half of all elementary children risk having heart disease because of obesity, elevated blood cholesterol or high blood pressure.

Sponsors include the American Heart Association, Hale Hospital, D.A.R.E.-North Andover Police, Newcomers of Andover and area businesses.

Call Marisa Mersereau at 685-3541 for more information about Healthy Kids Day.

AHS to host Festival of Music

The Collins Center at Andover High School has been chosen to be the host school for the annual Festival of Music.

The festival will begin Friday night, April 15, and run through Sunday, April 17.

Concert and jazz bands, chorus, ensembles and orchestras from high schools from New York, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Michigan will perform and be judged on various levels.

The performances are free and open to the public.

Sanborn kids played ball

Sanborn School third-graders ushered in spring with that all-American pastime, the game of baseball.

After singing the national anthem around the flag at the opening of school, Principal Jade Reitman had the honor of throwing out the first pitch for a game on a chilly, gray day in early April. After the game, the players were treated to a ballpark snack, provided by third-grade room mothers. The rest of the day was spent on regular curricular activities, integrated with the baseball theme where ever possible.

Teachers Dorothy McCormick, Patty Fitzgerald and Jennifer Marsella and student teachers Charles Easley and Michael Spring were responsible for providing the day's activities Principal Jade Reitman joins Sanborn School third-graders in singing of the national anthem before throwing out the first ball in a day-long celebration of spring and baseball.

The following Andover residents made the dean's list for the fall at the University of Vermont: Greg J. Mercer and Benjamin Scott Moyer, first-year students; Elizabeth Alyse Snyder and Louis Samuel Pfeifle, sophomores; Eva Elizabeth Derba and Erin Curme Gurry, seniors.

Tanya Bazlamit of 8 Cloverfield Drive, a student majoring in communication studies at Emerson College, was inducted into Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Tanya Bazlamit

She was selected for demonstrating above-average academic scholarship, good citizenship, outstanding campus leadership and promise of future potential.

The outstanding academic achievements of undergraduates at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn., were recognized recently.

John Joseph Faldetta Jr., in the college of arts and sciences, has been named to the dean's list. He is the son of Diane C. Faldetta of 4 Nicoll Drive.

Teresa Chia-Wei Wang, in the school of engineering, has been named to the honors list. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris S. Wang of 6 Acropolis Circle.

Some students from Haverford College, just outside of Philadelphia, Pa., chose to head south for spring break for reasons other than a week of beach bumming. Junior Pamela Wells, daughter of Don and Betsy Wells of Andover, is coordinating and participating in a service project designed to aid housing construction for the homeless in Arizona. The program is an activity of the Housing Outreach Action Project of which Ms. Wells is a member.

Ms. Wells and nine other Haverford students will work under the supervision of the Tucson chapter of Habitat for Humanity, an international development organization. They will spend five days in Tucson and two days in Nogales, along the U.S.-Mexico border, aiding in the construction of houses.

Brian Werner, son of Eric and Karen Werner of 16 Ravens Bluff, received the dean's award for academic excellence during the fall 1993 semester at Colgate University in Hamilton, N.Y. Mr. Werner is a 1990 graduate of Ballard High School in Louisville, Ky. He is concentrating in economics.

Drew University's College of Liberal Arts in Madison, N.J., has named Christopher Jude Klein of Andover to its dean's list for the 1993 fall semester.

Andover students have been named to the dean's list at Merrimack College. They are:

Richard L. Dubois of 152 North St., a sophomore computer science major; Stephanie L. Feo of 5 Poll Hill Drive, a first-year English major; Dawn R. Kollfrath of 800 Bulfinch Drive, a sophomore mathematics major; Jennifer M. Letch of 5 Farrwood Drive, a sophomore undeclared business administration major; Sean J. Lydon of 9 Bartlet St., a senior accounting major; Vikas H. Mehta of 119 Chestnut St., a junior biology major; Shirine A. Nassar of 6 Longwood Drive, a senior civil engineering major; Nicole Martin of 49 North St., a sophomore computer science major; Cherry W. Lo of 600 Bulfinch Drive, a sophomore economics major; Matthew J. Ouellette of 30 Foxhill Road, a senior electrical engineering major; Laurie J. Lussier of 40 Linwood St., a senior mathematics major; Michael J. Berube of 5 Lincoln St., a sophomore sociology major; Daniel F. Griffin of 6 Sandeewood Lane, a junior marketing major; Julie A. Marsh of 8

Mulberry Circle, a first-year undeclared business administration major; Maxine D. Simpson of 141 Greenwood Road, a senior computer science major; Marissa Iovanna of 22 Railroad Ave., a sophomore undeclared business administration major; Matthew S. Adams of 3 Old South Lane, a junior marketing major; Shawn M. Lynch of 32 Bancroft Road, a senior history major;

David J. Miles of 30 Stinson Road, a senior management major; Karl T. Bateson of 19 Keystone Way, a junior management major; Eugenia T. Georges of 59 Wildwood Road, a senior mathematics major.

21 Years

Mike Morris leaves legacy of an active Chamber

ing Ryan Financial Advisors, he was vice president and general manager of Fidelity Investments in Boston. He also was a senior vice president of State Street Investment Services Inc., and president of The Ryan Financial Group Inc.

Mr. Ryan is vice chairman of the Andover Council on Aging, and a member of the Merrimack Valley Estate Planning Council.

Mr. Morris said under his directorship the Chamber "tried to become more focused and more visible in the community." He said Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski told the Chamber two years ago that for a number of reasons, including the faltering economy, communities were going to have to become more self-reliant and more community-oriented.

"That was kind of a rallying cry for the Chamber of Commerce," Mr. Morris said.

Mr. Morris took that advice to heart, and under his leadership, the Chamber began to take a regional approach to some issues in the area. For instance, the Andover Chamber brought together bio-tech firms of Andover to discuss business. Mr. Morris recently was asked to be chairman of a task force for the city of Lawrence to bring certain enabling legislation that would allow that city to attract some of the kind of bio-tech firms that have settled in Andover.

"I think that's a validation of our bio-tech task force," said Mr. Morris.

Active in other causes

The Andover Chamber was instrumental in keeping the River Road bridge open while it is being rehabilitated, Mr. Morris pointed out. The bridge will also be widened.

"We have been interested in community issues that impact the sense of community in town," he said. "Sometimes these issues are not related directly to business."

Mr. Morris pointed out that four of the top five awards the Chamber gives at its annual meeting are to students, "to recognize them, encourage them, and to highlight their achievements."

He said the Andover Chamber has started a new program with Lawrence Boys and Girls Clubs whereby seventh-, eighth- and ninth-graders come to observe Andover businesses, which is "partly social but mostly a chance to show these kids how people work together," said Mr. Morris.

The first meeting of some Lawrence students and local business was last Saturday, at Andover Walk-In Medical Center. And a group of young Lawrence students will soon visit Andover Bank, said Mr. Morris, and other local businesses will also be asked to host visiting Lawrence students.

The Chamber worked with Mark McQuillan, superintendent of Andover schools, during Mr. Morris' leadership. Monday, the Chamber endorsed the $40.5 million school building project on the Town Meeting warrant.

The Chamber provided, with Lawrence General Hospital, the seed money for Andover High School's 24-Hour Relay. It also donated some seed money for the town's Earth Week. And the Andover Chamber of Commerce participates with the Our Town committee.

"The thing that I am proudest of is the Chamber has been, to whatever extent it has been necessary, a stalwart supporter to the Andover community and to the sense of community," said Mr. Morris.

AHS plans 24 Hour Relay Challenge

Andover High School's 24 Hour Relay Challenge on June 11 and 12 will bring together the Andover community to work for a common goal while having fun and raising money. All team members will take turns walking, jogging or running the track in relay, until the 24 hours are up.

To form a team, gather 10 participants and contact David Gangi or Jay Darrin at Andover High School. Teams may be student, adult or mixed. All student teams must have an adult coordinator present at all times. There is a limit of 36 teams allowed.

The money raised by the $500 entry fee per team will benefit a Service MiniGrant Program.

Two breaks in South Andover

By Don Staruk

Police are looking for two men who were allegedly involved in at least one of two breaks that occurred in the Wildwood Road area of South Main Street in the past week.

The first break occurred at a home on South Main Street Monday, April 4, at 2:55 p.m. A witness saw two men walk into the house through the front door. A ring, pendant and video recorder were taken.

Both suspects were white males about 20 years old. One was about 6-feet tall, 185 lbs. with short blond hair and wearing a white T-shirt and jeans. The second man was about 5-foot 9, 200 lbs., rugged looking and muscular with dark hair and a dark complexion and wearing a white hooded sweatshirt.

The home-owner said the front door had been locked but that the burglars were somehow able to get in anyway.

The second break occurred between 8 a.m. and noon on Monday, April 11, on Wildwood Road, and a number of expensive figurines were taken.

Police were not sure if the two breaks were related, but expected they might be.

"We have somebody active down in that neck of the woods," Detective Don Pattullo said Monday.

Recently, Andover has been relatively quiet as far as house breaks are concerned, Detective Pattullo said.

Who spent what on the campaign? Selectman Larry Larsen gave it all away

By Don Staruk

Selectman Larry Larsen was the big spender in the campaign that culminated with the March 28 town elections, but he didn't spend the bulk of his money on buttons, posters and pamphlets like the other candidates. He gave it away.

Candidates are required by state law to report their campaign fund raising and expenses to the town clerk. The latest report was due Monday, March 20.

Dr. Larsen and Selectman James Barenboim were not opposed in their bids for re-election to the Board of Selectmen. Dr. Larsen, anticipating some competition, had raised $4,312.50 for his campaign, mostly from a $25-a-head buffet reception at the Lanam Club, on North Main Street, on Jan. 19. He also made a $550 loan to his own campaign, and received donations from a handful of supporters.

"We were going to be ready for all comers," Dr. Larsen said Tuesday.

He spent $3,998.64, including two $1,000 contributions, one to the Andover Council on Aging and another to the Andover Fund for Education.

Dr. Larsen said he told supporters at the buffet reception that, should a challenger not come forward, the money would be donated to a broad-based charity. None did come forward and that resulted in the two large donations.

He spent $900 on the buffet reception, and $358 for invitations and $58 in postage for it.

Dr. Larsen had a $313.86 balance remaining in his campaign "war chest," with eight weeks to go, but said Tuesday, March 29, that some of that was spent on an ad and additional postage. He will add a little something to whatever is left and donate it to the Elm Green restoration project, Dr. Larsen said.

Mr. Barenboim had not submitted his expense report on time, but said he planned on submitting it after getting a call from Town Clerk Randy Hanson Monday.

Mr. Barenboim said he refused to accept any donations once he realized he was unopposed. Since he had no balance, received no funds and spent nothing, he didn't think he had to file the form, he said.

School Committee

Susan Jenkins was the big spender in the School Committee race with $1,542 raised, and $887.90 spent, mostly on printing and advertising. The funds raised included his wife Laura and daughter Sally. Dr. Mengel is a Family Practice Physician and the Medical Director at the Family Practice Center at the Hunt in Danvers.

A FAMILY PRACTICE PHYSICIAN IS A SPECIALIST IN FAMILY HEALTH CARE... especially if he has a family of his own.

MEET MARK MENGEL, M.D.

Family Practice Physicians spend three years becoming specialists in family medicine. This important post-graduate training prepares them to treat at least 90% of the illnesses faced by any family, from pediatrics to gynecology to cardiology.

Because of their specialized training, family practice specialists are uniquely qualified to care for your whole family, from infants to elders. As medical managers, they can help you and your family obtain the most appropriate treatment, if consultation is required.

Dr. Mark Mengel is a board certified Family Practice Specialist with 10 years experience as a physician and a teacher. He has opened his practice to new patients at the Family Practice Center at the Hunt Center in Danvers.

If you would like to schedule an appointment with Dr. Mengel or have a tour of this new, state-of-the-art Family Practice Center, call Elizabeth Hill, Administrator, at 508-762-6262.

PA faculty to present free jazz ensemble Sunday at 3 p.m.

The Phillips Academy Music Department will present its Faculty Jazz Ensemble this Sunday, April 17, at 3 p.m. in the Timken Recital Room at Graves Hall.

The program will include Duke Pearson's Jeannine; Chick Corea's Cappuccino; Herbie Hancock's Cantaloupe Island; Dave Grusin's Mountain Dance; and other jazz standards. The featured artists are Eric Thomas, saxophone; Vinny Monaco, electric bass; Bob Baughman, piano; and Bill Reynolds, drums.

Mr. Baughman received his bachelor of music degree in composition from Berklee College of Music. He performed his composition Iridesence at Carnegie Recital Hall in November 1985. Mr. Baughman has performed original jazz works for WERS-FM. He plays regularly as a solo pianist and band leader in the greater Boston area. He teaches piano at Boston Conservatory Extension Division as well as at Phillips Academy, Brooks School and Milton Academy.

Mr. Thomas received his bachelor of music degree from the New England Conservatory of Music. He was reviewed in Downbeat Magazine as "an unusually inventive and clean improviser." He played with the Ran Blake Quintet, a third stream group, the free jazz group MFO, Gunther Schuller's reconstructed Paul Whiteman Band and Schuller's Ragtime Ensemble, which toured Europe and the United States. Recently Mr. Thomas performed with Luther Henderson, a Duke Ellington arranger and producer of the musical Ain't Misbehavin', on tour to St. Croix as a member of the Boston Pops Traveling Ensemble. He is a member of the Phillips Academy teaching faculty and directs the Academy Jazz Band.

Mr. Monaco, who also plays the trumpet, graduated from the University of Massachusetts and Boston University, receiving his bachelor of music degree in education and master of music in performance, respectively. Prior to becoming a member of the Phillips Academy teaching faculty, Mr. Monaco was an active commercial and classical musician throughout the Eastern United States.

Mr. Reynolds teaches percussion at the University of Connecticut. He performs with the New Black Eagles, a well-known traditional jazz ensemble, Jerry Bergonzi and other Boston-area jazz artists.

The performance is free and open to the public.

Berj Zamkochian to play at Music Hall

Internationally acclaimed organist Berj Zamkochian returns to Methuen Memorial Music Hall on Broadway on Sunday, April 17, at 3 p.m. for the annual Gomidas Organ Fund Benefit Concert.

She carried a cross of seven calla lilies surrounded by bears' grass, fir trimmings and ivy made by Enchanted Florist of Pepperell.

Following a reception at the Mohawk Road home of the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Joy and Bruce Reynolds, the couple left for a cruise to the southern Caribbean.

The bride is the daughter of Donald and Barbara Fogg of 50 Summer St. She has a bachelor of business management degree and has been accepted at Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary.

Her husband has an associate of electrical engineering degree and is a program analyst with John Hancock.

Local craftswoman among 35 artisans featured at April 30th craft fair

Cornelia Norris, a local craftswoman and owner of Bears by Corrie, will be one of 35 artisans displaying their creations at the Andover 766 PAC-sponsored Spring Craft Fair, to be held Saturday, April 30, at Old Town Hall on Main Street from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

A native of Holland, Mrs. Norris came to the United States in 1968 with a background in tailoring and doll-making. She has specialized in teddy bears for the past six years.

Her bears were recently featured in the international publication Teddy Bear and Friends.

Mrs. Norris exclusively imports German replica of vintage fabric first used in Europe in the 1940s and often adds vintage clothing and other accessories to her bears.

She was a recent exhibitor in the New England Teddy Bear Extravaganza. Her bears are available at the Village Sampler where she works.

SOCIAL

Moms of twins to meet

The Merrimack Valley chapter of the Mothers of Twins Association will meet Tuesday, April 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the Andover/North Andover YMCA on Haverhill Street.

Meetings are open to all moms and moms-to-be of multiples. Call Laurie Marchegiani at 686-0706 for information.

Lodge hosts breakfast

St. Matthew's Lodge, 7 High St., will serve a family breakfast Sunday, April 17, from 8 to 11 a.m. Tickets are the door are $3.50 for adults; $3 for seniors.

Dance workshops feature Israeli folk dancing

If you say "Israeli folk dancing," most people answer, "Hava Nagla," and think of circle dancing. However, in Israel, due to the diversity of its ethnic population, folk dancing has had many cultural influences. As a result, Israeli folk dancing is diversified and expressive.

An instructor from Israel will teach the varied styles and steps in Israeli dancing beginning Sunday, April 17, at 7 p.m. at Temple Emanuel at 7 Haggetts Pond Road. The dance workshops will be held on a weekly basis. A $3 charge per person will cover the cost of instruction.

For more information, call Orit Goldstein at 475-3133.

Stroke support group helps take Easter Seal Telethon to the top for third consecutive year

Paul Chedekel of Andover, coordinator of the Greater Lawrence Easter Seal Stroke Support Group, helped make the 1994 Easter Seal Telethon first in the nation for the third year in a row. Pictured with telethon host Elizabeth Dann, Mr. Chedekel and his group raised more than $350 of the $2,202,546 total. The telethon aired March 6 over WLVI-TV56 and on stations in 134 other cities. Easter Seals has provided services for adults and children with disabilities in Massachusetts for 50 years.

Armenian Genocide observance planned

Armenians from throughout the Merrimack Valley and southern New Hampshire will gather for the 79th anniversary of the Armenian Genocide Sunday, April 24, at 3 p.m. in the West Middle School auditorium on Shawsheen Road.

During the program, "Armenia - the Lost Childhood," a special tribute will be paid to the orphans and organizations who came to their assistance from 1915 to 1923.

Near East Foundation, Armenian Relief Society and Armenian General Benevolent Union will be singled out with recognition award. Area youth, dressed in period clothes, will depict a replica of a working orphanage on stage. Sosi Jeknavorian of Chelmsford will direct the mini-production.

The Rev. Vartan Hartunian, pastor of First Armenian Church in Belmont, who was once an orphan, will speak on his experiences and how he overcame adversity to a position of leadership in the Armenian religious community.

A combined choral group for four area Armenian Apostolic churches, under the direction of John Magarian of Lowell, will present a musical offering. Sylvia Tavitian of Plaistow, N.H., will accompany on the piano.

Soloists include Vanessa Ovian, Barbara Sarkissian, Alice Kelishian, Richard Naroian and Zari Bogosian.

Clergy for apostolic churches will offer prayers and Gov. William H. Weld will extend a proclamation.

The observance is being planned jointly by individuals from different churches and organizations surrounding the catchphrase "Remembrance. Renewal. Resolve. - We Shall Survive."

Albert S. Movsesian of North Andover will serve as master of ceremonies and narrate a collection of slides pertinent to the occasion. A delegation of youth from the Independent Republic of Armenia, who are touring the area, will be present.

"In the long and turbulent history of the Armenian people, the year 1915 stands out as the darkest - when 2.5 million Armenians were victims of slaughter and deportation by the Ottoman Turks. Of more recent consequence is the further bloodshed and ethnic strife currently taking place in Karabagh against Azerbaijan, a battle which has lingered four years, claiming a multitude of lives," according to a spokesman for the group.

Committee co-chairmen Tom Vartabedian of Haverhill and Aram Jeknavorian of Lowell said, "The orphaned children are no longer faceless entities of the past. These survivors stand firm in solidarity, determined to become productive and noble citizens. They are the heart and soul of a proud culture and heritage."

Admission is free. Any proceeds will be given to Armenian orphanages. For more information, call Mr. Vartabedian at 373-1654, Mr. Movsesian at 685-2577 or Mr. Jeknavorian at 256-2538.

Temple plans a musical

Temple Emanuel at 7 Haggetts Pond Road will celebrate Israel Independence Day (yom ha-atzmaut) this Friday, April 15, at 8:15 p.m. with a musical presentation. Within the context of the Shabbat evening service, music from and about the land of Israel will be offered by Cantor Donn Rosensweig, organist Joyce Painter Rice, violinist Emil Blank, the Temple Emanuel choir and guests from the West Parish Church choir. This holiday commemorates the founding of the state of Israel on this date in 1948. The service will be conducted by Rabbi Robert Goldstein and the music program is under the direction of Cantor Donn Rosensweig. A coffee hour follows. The public is invited.

Brookridge lists plans

The theme for this Sunday's 10:30 a.m. service at Brookridge Community Church is "How to Respond to the Greatness of God."

Mark Adamy, a former night club performer, will be the featured musician. Child care is provided.

Franciscan Center offers prayer series

A new five-week scripture series entitled "How the Psalms help us to pray" will be offered Wednesdays through May 11, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Franciscan Center. Instructor Nina Lauzon Pension will focus on how the Psalms help us meet God in the changing cycles of our lives. Cost is $20 per person, $30 per couple. To register, call 851-3391, 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

A training program for parish visitors to the sick will be held at the Franciscan Center

April 21, 28, May 5 and 12 at 7:30 p.m. Fee is $20. To register, call 851-3391, 9 a.m.-4 p.m.

UU Church celebrates outreach

Jeri Bayer, chairperson of the outreach committee, will lead a service at Andover Unitarian Universalist Church at 6 Locke St. on Sunday, April 17, at 10:30 a.m. titled "Congregational Outreach: A Report and Celebration." There will be a review and presentation on the church's Summer Start program, which serves Lawrence preschool children during the summer months. Other members of the congregation will discuss their involvement in various local programs.

Meeting is on earth-based religions

The Merrimack Valley Psi Symposium will sponsor a meeting on earth-based religions at North Parish Church, 190 Academy Road, on Thursday, April 21, starting at 7:30 p.m. A freewill donation is requested.

Spiritual practices like paganism and Wicca celebrate the connection with Mother Earth and nature and mark in ritual and ceremony the changes of the seasons.

Gerrie Hildebrand, coordinator of the North Shore Chapter of CUUPS, Covenant of Unitarian Universalist Pagans, will talk about what pagans believe, and more.

For more information, call Suzanne Adams at 682-8585 or Howard Thomson at 683-1128.

Bishop Stendahl to lecture here

Lutheran Bishop Krister Stendahl, Bishop Emeritus of Stockholm and former dean of Harvard Divinity School, will deliver Merrimack College's third Rabbi Fox Lecture on Jewish-Christian Relations on Wednesday, April 20, in the college's Murray Lounge at 7:30 p.m.

His address, "Can the Victim Ever Trust the Victor?" is part of the college's annual study week on Jewish-Christian relations.

Bishop Stendahl, who gave the invocation at the dedication of the Holocaust Memorial Museum in Washington last April, is one of the central figures in world-wide Jewish-Christian relations.

He is the Andrew W. Mellon Professor of Divinity (Emeritus) at Harvard Divinity School and the first to hold the endowed visiting chair of Christian Studies at Brandeis University.

The renowned scripture scholar is the author of The Bible and the Role of Women (1966), Paul among the Jews and Gentiles (1976), Meanings (1985), and Energy for Life (1990).

Other events will include a panel discussion on Denial of the Holocaust on Tuesday, April 19, at 3:30 p.m., in Murray Lounge and a Yom HaShoah Holocaust Memorial Service, with Rabbi David Whiman of Temple Shalom in Newton presiding, on Thursday, April 21, at 12:30 p.m. in Gildea Hall's Campus Ministry Lounge.

There is no admission fee for these events. For more information, call Padraic O'Hare at Merrimack College's religious studies department, 837-5000, Ext. 4521.

Consider These Thoughts

by Garry A. Burke

TENDER COMRADE

The words of Alphonse de Lamartine create metaphors which invite reflection about the passing of one's wife and long-time mate: "The death of a man's wife is like cutting down an ancient oak that has long shaded the family mansion. Henceforth the glare of the world, with its care and vicissitudes, falls upon the window's heard, and there is nothing to break their force, or shield him from the full weight of misfortune. It is as if his right hand were withered; as if one wing of his angel was broken, and every movement that he made brought him to the ground. His eyes are dimmed and glassy, and when the film of death falls over him, he misses those accustomed tones which might have smoothed his passage to the grave."

When his wife dies, a widower is numb and often unable to feel or express grief. Memories of his wife and past will preoccupy him and he may feel isolated, panicky, and unable to cope. Eventually, time heals the pain of loss and the widower recovers. Because it is so difficult to contemplate life without your spouse, we want you to know that we are here to help. If you are having trouble coping with the pain death brings, call Burke Funeral Home at 475-5200. You'll find our home conveniently located at 390 North Main Street.

HINT: "Teacher, tender comrade, wife, a fellow-farer true through life."

They say that the older you get, the wiser you get.

Lloyd Willey raised $765 and spent $459.23, leaving a balance of $305.77. Mr. Willey loaned his own campaign $300.

Susan Dalton had a $24.97 balance coming in to the campaign, raised $207.90 and spent the total $232.87, mostly for sign printing.

David Birnbach raised $322.50 and spent it all on photo developing, printing and ads.

Bill Josephson raised $1,000, spent only $227.84 and had a balance remaining of $772.16.

Housing Authority

entire $272 he spent on his own campaign.

Rolande Werner raised $44, spent $35 and had a balance of $9.

Moderator

Jim Doherty reported that he did not raise any funds for, and did not spend any money on, his campaign for town moderator.

John Doyle had $139.01 coming into the campaign, raised nothing and spent nothing, and reported the same ending balance.

Tech School rep

Joe Gleason, unopposed for the Greater Lawrence Technical School Committee seat, raised nothing and spent nothing on his campaign, and maintained a balance of two cents.

than Tuesday's, it was far fewer than the 3,250 for which Town Clerk Randy Hanson was prepared. Dunn Gymnasium can hold 2,000 people. The Collins Center, which can hold another 1,250, was wired for audio and video and was to be used for the overflow, but it wasn't needed. The only persons who were in the Collins Center were Fred Stott, the second moderator, and 24 other employees who would have checked voters in and counted votes. The attendance Monday night was even lower than the 2,030 who attended the 1991 Annual Town Meeting when voters approved a $2.5 million school-maintenance spending package.

It took voters just about an hour to get through the first 19 articles and on to Article 20, the school construction article. Most of the rest of the night was spent presenting, discussing and voting on that article. The meeting was adjourned at 10:35 p.m.

Budget approved

The Fiscal 1995 town budget approved Monday night was nearly $456,000 lower than what had been proposed and printed in the Finance Committee report, mostly due to new lower figures for the cost of health care.

Line 25 of the budget, the health insurance fund, was reduced from $3.96 million to $3.5 million. Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski said before the meeting that the cost of health insurance came in lower than expected because the providers now take into account the "good experience" of the employees in the group.

Voters knocked $10,000 off the proposed $210,000 that had been recommended by the town manager and selectmen for the reserve fund. That figure would have been $10,000 up from previous years and voters opted to go with the Finance Committee's recommendation to keep it at the previous level.

The only increase in the budget from what was published in the FinCom report was about a $30,000 hike in the assessment for the Greater Lawrence Technical School. That figure was expected to jump from $78,600 last year to $109,768 this year, but came in at $123,382. The higher figure is due to a new formula in the 1993 Education Reform Act used to assess towns for regional vocational school costs.

The $60,223,538 budget is still about a 4.4 percent increase from the Fiscal 1994 budget.

"It represents an increase, but it also represents an increase in the services," said Don Robb, FinCom chairman.

Mr. Robb called it a "reasonable" spending plan on the whole.

Free cash to reduce taxes

Voters approved using $300,000 of free cash to reduce the Fiscal Year 1995 tax rate. Free cash was certified at $2 million going into Town Meeting, which represents about 3.3 percent of the budget. The Finance Committee has a goal of keeping free cash at between 3 and 5 percent of the budget.

Paying for snow removal

Town meeting approved the transfer of $538,000 from six other accounts into the Public Works account to pay for snow removal in the current year's budget. The largest amount was $300,000, again from savings in the health insurance account.

Pooper scooper collects sufficient votes to pass for another 90 days before it can be enforced.

Initial reaction from a number of Andover police officers was negative, since they are the ones who will have to enforce the bylaw. One complaint was that the bylaw does not provide for written warnings to be issued.

"As far as the law is written, there's no provision for a written warning," Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski said Wednesday morning.

Violations will be a non-criminal offense punishable by a fine of $15 for a first offense, $25 for a second offense and $50 for third or subsequent offense.

"Enforcement on this sort of thing, like jaywalking or littering, is very difficult," Mr. Stapczynski said.

The violation has to be witnessed by the police officer, he said.

"More than anything else, I think this is an issue of raising awareness," Mr. Stapczynski said.

Discussion of the article at Town Meeting was brief. The Board of Selectmen recommended approval of the article and Selectman Larry Larsen said he and his dog, Clover, believe it is a good bylaw. Dr. Larsen said he realizes some people think a pooper-scooper law sounds as if the town is becoming the "People's Republic of Andover," but that it's something people should be doing.

"Personally, it's a piece of bylaw I can support," Dr. Larsen said.

Two amendment proposals to the bylaw failed on the floor. The first, made by planner Laura Hill, exempted land under the control of the town's Conservation Commission. The intent was to "acknowledge reality," according to Mr. Stapczynski, such as that people walk their dogs and let them run in remote open and wooded areas in town.

The second amendment was proposed by Bob Friedenson of 109 Bellevue Road. "I consider this article unreasonable," Mr. Friedenson said.

It reminded him of a proposal in Italy to require underpants for dogs, he said.

Mr. Friedenson proposed that the bylaw also include cats and horses. He said the health danger is as great from cats as dogs, and that horse manure on the trails around Haggetts Pond, the town's water supply, is a potential health problem.

His amendment was also shot down.

What is required

The new law requires that each person "who owns, possesses or controls a dog to remove and dispose of any feces left by his or her dog on any sidewalk, street or other public area in the town." It also covers private property not owned by said dog owner, possessor or controller.

"No person who owns, possesses or controls such dog shall appear with such dog on any sidewalk, street, park or other public area without the means of removal of any feces left by such dog," the article reads in part. Again, this also applies to private property.

"The means of removal shall be any tool, implement or other device carried for the purpose of picking up and containing such feces, unexposed to said person or the public. Disposal shall be accomplished by transporting such feces to a place suitable and regularly reserved for the disposal of canine feces, or as otherwise designated as appropriate by the Board of Health."

Handicapped persons and persons accompanied by a guide dog are exempt from the bylaw.

Support for $40.5M schools project convincing

Sunday decision by school officials. Prior to their presentation and the ensuing Town Meeting discussion Monday, the School Committee presented an ultimately-approved amendment to split Article 20 into two pieces.

The town approved by a 1,291-247 vote the first section, covering the $38.5 million in renovations and additions to Andover High School, South, and Sanborn that will be eligible for 60 percent state reimbursement. The second section, covering the $2 million technology - to be paid entirely by the town and aimed at providing an equitable level of technology to the remaining schools - was approved 1,087-157.

"To those who say that we are the state, and the 60 percent reimbursement comes from us, I answer that your state tax dollars are building and renovating schools from North Andover to Fitchburg to New Bedford," Mr. Muller said in the opening presentation. "You can be guaranteed that your state taxes will build or renovate a new high school in the summer of '94, somewhere in the state of Massachusetts. The question is, will it be in Andover?"

Mr. Muller's remarks were indicative of the months of preparation put in by school officials who by Town Meeting said they felt confident they were prepared for most of the questions and comments regarding the project.

There were several people who addressed the issue of tax increases and the payment method proposed by the plan.

"But who's the state? I'm the state. Everybody in here is the state," said Frank Miniscalco, 20 McKenney Circle. "The truth of the matter is we are going to foot the bill. Andover should start leading and say stop this tax and spend (business)."

"I'd like to talk about the 20-year bond," said Bill Coderre, 37 Stinson Road, an opponent of including technology in the current proposal. "How would you like to be making your last payment now on a 1974 Cadillac?"

"Nobody ever learned better in a new school," said Mr. Miniscalco. "I went to an old school. I learned. Children are going to old schools all around us. They aren't coming out dumbies."

"I've been a property-owning taxpayer in town for 35 years. When this gymnasium was built we had no girls' athletic program, or nothing to speak of," said Dick Collins, who added that as a high school football and track coach over the years, he had probably visited more facilities than most of those present. "I don't know where the hell all these old schools he's talking about are."

"Andover, facility-wise, is clearly second rate in the Merrimack Valley," said Mr. Collins.

"We could use the term penny-wise and pound foolish, but we're not talking pennies here today," said Selectman Jerry Silverman. "I'm happy to pay because there are many of you out there who helped pay for my child."

The Board of Selectman along the Finance Committee, the Planning Board, the School Committee and the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce all supported the proposal.

"After careful study and analysis we are convinced" there is a need, said Joanne Marden, finance committee member. "We think it's very important to move forward with these projects now. The children are not going to move out of town; the roofs are not going to stop leaking."

Several detractors of the buildings project said they were opposed to the insistence on doing the project now, as a means of receiving more state aid.

"These are scare tactics and I resent them," said George Saideh, 13 Bradley Road.

Greg Doyle, 315 River Road, pointed to the approximately 5 percent hike in the town and school budgets over the past few years.

"I don't think inflation has gone up 5 percent every year. I don't think the number of (students) has gone up 5 percent every year," said Mr. Doyle. He said approving the project "would be like putting a larger gas tank on a car that needs a tune-up."

"I'm not sure I like the scare tactics about how we have to do this now," he said.

"There is no more room. Let those people who talk about scare tactics come and see. Let them come and see, as I have these last five years," said Jim Krasnoo, president of the High School Parent Advisory Committee. "You can't ask for quality education to continue without a good physical plant."

"Students can't hear," said Bill Josephson, co-chairman of the Bancroft overcrowding task force. "They are becoming academic introverts."

Other proponents of the school buildings project said that a quality school system helps to maintain property values.

"High property values don't do any of us any good unless you're trying to get taxes for the town or planning to sell," George Brattin, 39 Bartlet St., said in return. Mr. Brattin fought a roar of disapproval from the crowd in order to speak. At this point in the night, most present expressed a resounding "Yes!" to Moderator Jim Doherty's question of whether they were ready to vote.

After Mr. Doherty painted the picture of residents having to remain in their seats for 30 minutes if a secret ballot was used for the vote, residents overwhelmingly voted down the secret ballot amendment proposed by Mary Carbone, 3 Cyr Circle.

Residents also voted down an amendment by Bill Coderre to remove part of the technology proposals from the $38.5 million projects. This would have lowered the cost from $38.5 million to $37.7 million.

"I strongly recommend, if we believe in superior public school education for the young kids of Andover, we should not emasculate" this project, said former School Committee member John Sullivan, 50 Sunset Rock Road, just prior to the proposal.

"From my observation," said Mr. Coderre, "the buildings project is a mile wide - it covers everything - but it is only an inch deep. I suggest that we defer the computer network costs for now."

After the vote on the $38.5 million piece was approved by a significant amount more than the two-thirds needed, the $2 million technology component passed quickly.

Bill Huston, School Committee member, was still being grilled with questions by Matt Lennon of the School Building Committee just two hours before Town Meeting began.

"I'm always anxious before I give a presentation, but I spent weeks doing my homework," said Mr. Huston. Yet Mr. Huston did not really need to give his speech on the $2 million technology component, because after the $38.5 million vote, the technology piece passed with surprising ease.

Town Meeting adjourned after Article 21 was passed. It is a related article concerning $1 million for architectural fees. This is essentially a book-keeping article, and the $1 million is part of the $38.5 reimbursed by the state.

May 17 debt-override vote to determine if project funded

By Neil Fater

School officials involved in the $40.5 million school buildings project are celebrating the approval of their plan at Town Meeting Monday night. However, despite the modest celebration, they are well aware that they are still only half way home - and there's virtually nothing more they can do about it.

Tuesday, May 17, the town will vote on a debt-exclusion override of Proposition 2 ½. There must be a simple majority in favor of the override in order for the $40.5 million project to be funded.

But between now and then, no school department employee or School Committee member can use any public funds to promote the project. This means that no paper, machine, photo copier or ink owned by the town or schools can be used in any effort to support the $40.5 million plan.

"It's better to just not get involved at all. Because even if you're stating the facts, you tend to look at it biasedly," said Jim Marsh, chairman of the School Building Committee.

According to the 1978 Anderson v. City of Boston case, the state Supreme Judicial Court concluded that a "municipality has no authority to appropriate funds for the purpose of taking action to influence the result of a (ballot question) proposed to be submitted to the people at a State election."

The Court went on to state that "from what we have said, it is apparent that the city's use of telephones and printed materials provided by public funds, and its use of facilities paid for by public funds, would be improper, at least unless each side were given equal representation and access."

"We can't be involved," said Dick Muller, chairman of the School Committee. Though, "We can be involved as individuals."

There will be two items on the May 17 ballot. One will be for a vote on the $38.5 million in projects at Andover High School, South, and Sanborn, and the other will be for a vote on the $2 million technology piece that is aimed at providing the remaining school buildings with equitable levels of technology.

The $38.5 million component will be reimbursed by the state at 60 percent for both the principal cost and interest of the project, providing all plans are submitted to the state by June 1, 1994.

"We've got a lot of work to do. We had slowed the project down the last couple of weeks," said Mr. Marsh. "We wanted to maximize the time between April 11 and June 1."

Mr. Marsh said the School Building Committee has tried to keep to a minimum architects' work that would have been wasted if the buildings project had failed.

"If it wasn't going to pass, we didn't want to waste the money," he said. But now, "they are geared up. They have a strategy and a game plan. We're going to start in on that road."

Article 21 appropriated the necessary funds to carry the architects up until the June 1 state deadline. Mr. Marsh said he expects to meet three times each with the architects on both the High School and elementary projects this week.

Teachers to get early retirement

By Neil Fater

Wiping the chalk from their hands one last time, several long-time Andover teachers will say goodbye this June.

Town Meeting voted to provide an Early Retirement Incentive Program for Andover teachers, Tuesday night, awarding the full five-year benefit package. The decision came after debate over the length of the credit to be awarded.

The program allows retiring teachers to add five years to either their age, years of service, or a combination thereof, to arrive at the package most beneficial to them.

The school department will be able to hire virtually two junior-level teachers for the price of one senior-level, retiring instructor, said Mark McQuillan, superintendent of schools.

"We're going to lose some talent, but at the same time, we're getting new blood," said Mary Lyman, School Committee member.

Less than a month ago, Ms. Lyman questioned whether, in the interest of equity, the schools should offer the teachers the same three-year retirement credit that had been awarded to town workers last year. However, after seeing a presentation at the March 29 committee meeting comparing the benefits of the two proposals, she supported the five-year plan.

"The five-year plan is not ever cheaper, but it's not proportionally that much more expensive," said Ms.

Lyman. "For me personally, it had to do that, economically, it helped the teachers so much for such a little impact on the school system."

However, at Town Meeting, Bill Coderre, 37 Stinson Road, addressed this point himself. He pointed out the small savings to the town of voting for the three-year plan, and also discussed the equity issue.

"There's not a lot of money involved here, but I think as a principle" we should give the town and school employees an equal number of years, said Mr. Coderre.

"Everything doesn't have to be exactly the same," said Lloyd Willey, School Committee member. "What has to be the same is everything has got to be fair."

Selectman Jerry Silverman said that the town-worker and teacher retirement plans are not entirely comparable in large part because town employees tend to reach their peak salary level in significantly fewer years. Therefore, there is more of a savings to taxpayers from a retiring teacher who is replaced, than there is from a town employee.

"The five-year program, as I recall, would not have saved as much money" for the town, said Selectman Charles Wesson. "But it's two different programs. We were looking for maximum savings for the town of Andover."

"They are apples and oranges. They are completely different situations," Gail Zeman, school business manager, said Wednesday morning. Teachers "don't reach that senior (top salary) level again for 13 years. Other contracts reach it in four, five or six."

The Board of Selectmen and the Finance Committee both supported the five-year plan.

Andover can expect to receive state funding for at least one, but not more than 22 teachers. The base retirement benefits will be paid by the Massachusetts Teachers' Retirement System, not the town. The town will split the additional ERI benefit costs with the state. The town's ERI payments over the 15 years, estimated at $510,945 if 10 teachers retire, will be absorbed in the school budget. The five-year accumulated savings for 10 teachers is estimated at $673,426, meaning the project will pay for itself after four years.

School officials are using a self-described conservative estimate that the state will allow six to 10 teachers to retire.

The amount of money to be granted to each community will be subject to the number of school districts entering the program in this, the second year and final year.

"The allocation will be done by establishing a ratio of the total number of members in each accepting district to the total number of teachers in all the accepting districts," according to information from the Massachusetts Teachers' Retirement Board. "The resulting percentage will be utilized to allocate positions or money as the case may be."

Meeting buries paving of Alderbrook Road

By Don Staruk

Following what was perhaps the most passionate discussion of the first two nights of Town Meeting, residents Tuesday night buried a proposal to pave a private section of Alderbrook Road by a vote of 277-189.

During the hour-long discussion of Article 22, neighbors argued against neighbors on issues of child safety, citizens' rights and facts of town history until finally, Joann Heitz, of 105 Sunset Rock Road, broke down and cried while addressing the meeting on the proposal's potential danger to children.

Despite safety issues raised during the discussion, Buzz Stapczynski, town manager, said Wednesday that nothing will now be done to the road.

"I assume school buses are going to continue to traverse it," and the town will continue to plow it as it has for years, Mr. Stapczynski said.

The point was made that the potholes have gotten worse since the town went in and paved part of it, but Mr. Stapczynski said he doesn't think that pavement will be removed.

"I don't have any intention of ripping up any pavement," he said.

Mr. Stapczynski said the town's liability has not changed.

"I think our liability is probably clear. At the moment, it's considered a private way," Mr. Stapczynski said. "Should there be an accident, I think all parties would be brought into it."

That is not so much due to that particular road as it is, but to the litigious way of society today, he said.

Emotional debate

The crux of the dispute really revolved around two neighbors who live on a dirt section of road that connects Alderbrook and Sunset Rock roads, one who wanted it paved and one who did not. But both had several supporters in the neighborhood who would be affected by the paving, mostly residents of Sunset Rock Road, Alderbrook Road and Countryside Way.

After more than a year of discussions aimed at satisfying both sides, the town finally came down on the side of paving the road. Because the road is deeded to the residents who own property on it, the town put forth the warrant article asking voters to allow the land to be taken by the town so the road could be made a public way.

The Planning Board started the discussion by giving its support for the project. Then Robert Cronin, safety officer for the police department, said potholes in the road are a safety problem, for motorists as well as cyclists and pedestrians.

"It is definitely unsafe in its present condition," Officer Cronin said.

Robert Heitz Jr., Ms. Heitz's husband, outlined the history of the property and the use of the road.

"I believe I'm the central figure in this issue," he told voters.

He related how he'd been repeatedly told over the years by town officials that the road was private, and how he was denied town services because it was private. He said he gave permission to the town to put a water main in the road two years ago, but that the town then violated state law by paving part of it at the request of his neighbors, Paul and Victoria Rauseo of 102 Sunset Rock Road.

Mr. Heitz had previously presented selectmen with a petition signed by 40 area residents asking not to pave the Building group worked hard

Even if you didn't like the work they were doing, you have to admit they worked long and hard for their project.

James Marsh and his committee, the Andover School Building Committee, worked diligently and creatively on the needs of the school children and the community, put together Article 20 for the Town Meeting warrant, and hung in there Monday, explaining their reasons for the building plan. It took only from 8:15 p.m. until 10:35 to deal with the important article, which was amended and split into two parts: $38.5 million for the building project, and $2 million for technology.

Whether or not voters will support the school improvements when we face a debt-exclusion override of Proposition 2 ½ at the polls within 45 days, this town owes the School Building Committee a resounding thank-you for a job well done. Committee members are chairman Marsh, vice-chairwoman Marjorie Dennis, treasurer Vincent Chiozzi, Matthew Lennon, John Ferguson and Allan Clarke.

A good point

Town Meeting watchdog Bill Coderre had a point worth discussing Monday night at Town Meeting, when he suggested part of the technology section of the school building project article should not be addressed as an override item, but as a regular, annual, on-going part of the budget, not as a one-shot bond item.

Mr. Coderre's point, and voters didn't go for it, is that computers change dramatically every year, and the town won't be able to override Prop. 2 ½ every year to update technology. So he suggested the town defer the computer costs at this time. Bonding for short-term items is not a good idea, he suggested. Some of the work that voters approved for computers will be long-lasting: installing cables and networking computers. But some computer items — staff training, curriculum development software, and more — need to be part of the on-going schools budget. Matthew Lennon of the School Building Committee has said his committee "will look into" Mr. Coderre's suggestions.

Beach chairs and blankets were part of the scene Saturday morning when parents were lined up to register their children for limited slots in SHED, Shawsheen Extended Day, after-school care.

There were 85 of them, sleepy, unshaven . . .

By Perry Colmore

Saturday morning, April 9. It's 7:45 a.m. I've had a pretty good night of sleep. And although I really don't feel like getting out of bed to go take a photo at Shawsheen School, I'm awake, and I know I should do it. I, after all, once had children who needed after-school care.

So I pull on my jeans, take a long drink of coffee, pick up my camera, and head on my way.

I am greeted by quite a sight. A long line of men and women, mostly in their 30s it seems, about two people deep, snakes around from the door to the portable classrooms at SHED, Shawsheen Extended Day, to out of sight around the corner of Shawsheen School.

When Sydney Bialo, administrator of SHED, showed up at 7:45 a.m., there were 85 men and women waiting to sign up for the after-school care for their children. SHED has 80 slots, but of course about half of those already are taken from next year by returning kindergartners.

The first person to get in line to register arrived at 12:30 a.m. Most arrived between 4 and 5 a.m. Registration officially began at 8 a.m. Saturday.

These people have a problem, you say. On the contrary. These people will have a problem if they can't find decent after-school care for their children.

Some of the men needed shaves. The women looked exhausted. Many husband-and-wife teams split the honors: He would have the 2-to-5-a.m. shift, she would arrive to hold their place in line during the next shift.

They wanted to get their children in SHED.

For those of you who say they shouldn't have had the child if they couldn't take care of him or her, go spit in a lake. Some of these people have to work, some want to work. The point is, whatever a community can do to help parents by providing quality care for their children, it should do.

I asked Ms. Bialo why we don't offer more slots for SHED.

"We don't have the space," she said.

Shawsheen School doesn't have any more space because Kid's Club, the 3-year-old after-school enrichment program for first- through fifth-graders uses Shawsheen School. Kid's Club has 110 in its program, and there are 50 on the waiting list.

Some parents only need SHED care until 3 p.m., some need it after 3 p.m. SHED is all kindergarten children. SHED kids have first priority to walk into Kid's Program.

Get it? This community needs more quality after-school care for children. We're a competitive group of people. If I tell you that Ms. Bialo says Brookline, Newton and Wellesley all have good after-school care programs, will that shake any of us into action? Anything they can do, we can do better kind of idea ...

Actually, SHED has set a goal to start a capital fund campaign to buy a building, so it can expand.

SHED is a highly-regarded program. In fact, the Wellesley School-Age Project wants to use SHED as a training site for Wellesley care providers.

SHED's philosophy is based on teaching thinking skills, problem-solving. It is not highly academically oriented, Ms. Bialo said.

Kid's Club is sort of like the old kind of neighborhood that doesn't exist any more, she said. Kids are able to "socialize with adult supervision," is how Ms. Bialo put it.

Although kids at Kid's Club can elect to do homework there, "We won't be homework police," said Ms. Bialo.

So kids can choose from indoor play, outdoor play, snacks and other activities.

"If they want, they can just kick back and sit in a corner," she said.

One day a week, Kid's Club offers "interest clubs," such as a photo club, a baseball card collectors club, or a magic club.

Once a person gets into SHED or Kid's Club, that's it, he or she is in. So as you can see, it's difficult for a person to break into the good after-school care here.

Our school buildings aren't used much after school. Many of our churches are empty in the afternoons. Many kids come from families in which mom and dad both work. Many kids come from single-parent homes.

I feel for the parents, and for the kids.

Punchard Free School was not PC

Editor, Townsmen:

In the article concerning Andover's town elections, you make mention of the Andover Town Handbook published by the Andover League of Women Voters. The information concerning the Punchard Trust is inaccurate.

If one were to read the trust, he would quickly determine that Mr. Punchard did not specifically allow women to attend Punchard Free School. It is quite clear that he left this option to the trustees for later decision. The actual wording of the trust is, as follows, and I quote, "the said Trustees to have the sole discretion and power also to determine and decide whether the school shall be for males only or for the benefit of both sexes ..."

Mr. Punchard also provided as follows, "no sectarian influence to be used in the school, the Bible to be in daily use, and the Lord's Prayer in which the pupils shall join audibly with the teacher in the morning at the opening ..."

Finally, the trust clearly calls for only those of the Protestant persuasion to be trustees. In these times of political correctness, I am afraid Mr. Punchard would be criticized by the politically correct police.

Responding to singer Cobain's suicide

Editor, Townsmen:

While listening to the radio last Friday afternoon, I was surprised and upset to hear of the death of Kurt Cobain, lead singer of the band Nirvana. Mr. Cobain seemed to be the voice of the Grunge movement, an alternative music and social culture that is popular with teens and young adults right now. As a 20-something adult working with kids in the community, I am both aware of Cobain's music and sensitive to his importance as a role model; I have listened to the band's lyrics, seen Cobain in performance and interviews, and watched the way that young people respond to him. What he represented in person and in thought exemplified the feelings of those around him. Now that he is dead, how are we to respond?

Think of a celebrity who died during your adolescence. Maybe you remember where you were when Kennedy was assassinated or when Martin Luther King was shot. I remember the day that John Lennon died and I still have the scrapbook of news clippings that I made about his life, his work and his death. Such passages do not go lightly.

In the past few days, I have heard Kurt Cobain compared to Jimi Hendrix, Janis Joplin and Jim Morrison. I have also seen young people wearing black arm bands and Nirvana T-shirts to show their grief. According to one radio report, Cobain's widow gathered 3,000 people outside of her home to scream obscenities at her dead husband, en masse. What do these different statements have in common? They seem to be ways for people to contextualize his dying and to come to grips with their own grief. Even so, such varied reactions show the trouble we have in letting celebrities be anything other than perfect, present and immortal.

Kurt Cobain's death leads me to ask how we go about forming and informing our role models. Even as we recognize his talent and influence, we must understand the man behind the message. There is a real difference between people like Janis Joplin, John Kennedy and Kurt Cobain: Joplin, Hendrix and Morrison died by drug overdose, trying to find a higher, better, more intense set of feelings. Kennedy, King and Lennon died because of other actions. Cobain, on the other hand, shot himself to escape his pain.

As raw as it may be to think about, these differences are important if we are to understand his role and our response. Kurt Cobain suffered from bipolar disorder, a mental illness which caused him unfathomable pain and depression. The words and lyrics which made him so famous were not just the ramblings of anxiety, boredom, drug hazes or apathy. Rather, they were an honest expression of his illness and a voice crying for help. Cobain did not kill himself to get back at anyone, nor was he looking for media attention; he just wanted the blackness of his own mind to go away.

It is important that we recognize such calls for help. Andover's Suicide Task Force has begun the important job of addressing teen problems in the community, and I laud their efforts. I want to point out, however, that the issues our teens face are not and should not be expressed in the same terms as Cobain's illness. Unfortunately, depression and suicide sometimes transcend barriers of race, class or success, a point that Cobain made clear last week. We are not to judge why or how such pain occurs, we can only move to prevent its occurring unnecessarily.

My fear is that young people will look to role models like Kurt Cobain to give them an accurate representation of their world. Yes, adolescence includes fear, anxiety, frustration and anger, but those are not the only things one can feel.

Perhaps if we monitored our role models more closely, such negative world-views would not be so normative. Perhaps too, Mr. Cobain's illness would have been recognized and treated, and he would remain as a model for survival, not for defeat.

Bill Downs may have choked out

Editor, Townsmen:

After reading the illogical pro-smoking stance that William Downs detailed in The Eagle-Tribune on Friday, April 8, I wondered why a politician would align himself with his smoking constituents. Assuming that Mr. Downs intends to run for re-election, he should realize that current local demographics indicate that non-smokers outnumber smokers approximately two to one.

As a non-smoker, parent and health-care provider, I believe the real issue is not the right to make profit from tobacco products. Perhaps Philip Morris has an opening for out-of-office selectman.

Lloyd Willey replies

Editor, Townsmen:

The letters to the editor concerning my remarks during a recent Andover Townsmen candidates forum with three high school students requires a response.

When I perform an analysis of a situation, it is my custom to try to quantify things for clarity. Unfortunately, in this case the quantification was reported out of the context of the conversation and it gave a misrepresentation of my thoughts.

I have always prided myself in being respectful of all people, understanding of individual differences and non-judgmental of those with whom I interact. Anyone who knows me knows I find stereotyping repugnant and I make every effort to be sensitive and objective in my analysis of situations.

I sincerely regret that my extracted comments as reported in the Andover Townsmen were misinterpreted. My comments were not delivered in the manner being interpreted by the letter writers.

On reflection, the dialogue session the candidates had with the three student representatives in my view was very informative and constructive and I look forward to continuing the relationships established at the session as my term continues.

Cable television blasts back

Editor, Townsmen:

Recently The Andover Townsmen published a letter from the president of the League of Women Voters. ["Candidates were cheated," page 36, March 31.] In the letter the League president stated that the voters of Andover had been cheated out of seeing the candidates debate on Channel 11.

As luck would have it, technical difficulties prevented myself and my partner from broadcasting the debate live as planned. The League president's view of the situation is a narrow one because she is unaware of the complex nature of what it takes to broadcast any television production live and the hundreds of potential problems one may encounter doing so in the time allotted. We investigated every contingency top to bottom, checking and testing every piece of equipment. Still, we could not find the problem.

After the debate ended, my partner and I tried to answer all questions and comments (comments which were laced with a little too much venom) in a clear and professional manner. Unfortunately, some of the debate attendees could not extend us the same courtesy. In fact, we attempted to apologize to such lengths, it wouldn't be for another half hour before we could start to break down our equipment and go home. TCI Cablevision, the company which provides local access facilities in the first place, owes nothing (even an apology) to a town which all but ignores the benefits it provides in local access.

In short, if you want professional work, hire a professional. In this task I wish the League the best of luck in finding a pro who will work for a mere $25.

I fully understood the ramifications of not having the debate being broadcast on Channel 11, it was Wednesday night and the election was to be held on Monday. In hopes to mend the problem, we taped the debate as a backup in case of broadcast problems like this one. The following Thursday and Friday nights (note it was before the election) the debate was broadcast to every home in Andover that just happened to be cable subscribers.

In the end for those who needed to see it, did. Those who missed both nights, should have checked the message board on Channel 11.

The town of Andover has for too long taken for granted the services provided by local access. The people who produce television programs for both Channel 11 and Channel 12 have been overlooked for too long. For years we have taped and/or broadcast your kids' sports events, school plays and special events as well as selectmen and School Committee meetings. Most of the time, these people perform these duties without getting any money at all, and now we hear complaints.

It is time for Andover to call fair fair, wake up and open their eyes to what they have in this town. OK, maybe Andover has been cheated ... themselves.

Over the past few weeks, there has been some increasing controversy concerning the town meetings being broadcast (or not being broadcast, as the case may be). In the March 31 issue of the Townsmen, Virginia H. Cole, president of the League of Women Voters, wrote a letter, apologizing to the candidates and criticizing TCI for the fact that their debate was not broadcast. This is only partially true. It is not uncommon for there to be difficulty in broadcasting meetings from Memorial Hall, quite possibly because of the transfer of equipment from the town offices. A vast majority of the equipment does not belong to TCI but to the town of Andover who has ignored their responsibility to maintain and upgrade their own equipment that is used to broadcast the meetings.

Unfortunately, on the night of the debate, held at Memorial Hall, there was a problem that could not be rectified. The camera crew did in fact video tape the debate, with TCI equipment and it was shown on the local access television station before the elections took place. So, no, the candidates were not "cheated."

new. Equipment failures do happen a few times a month. The difference being that usually the person in charge of that meeting fixes the problem before anyone realizes something is wrong. I myself had to fix a piece of equipment that I knew little about, with minutes to spare before the meeting came to session. Only until recently has anything been done about fixing the equipment.

Not only is equipment failure nothing new, but the way that many political groups treats the camera crew is also nothing new. What was not "caught on tape" during the League's debate was the remarks and personal insults about questionable intelligence that members of the League lashed out at the two crew members trying their best to salvage what they could from the event. One woman even stated that she simply needed someone to yell at.

We are not your personal stress pets, we are students who are contracted with the town to cover their meetings. This is not under TCI. The same treatment has been given to many other trained crew members. I myself was in charge of televising a School Committee meeting when there was a technical malfunction. What was so different about this circumstance was that I had no idea that anything was wrong. From my control site, everything was running smoothly. It was not until the middle of the meeting when a resident who lived near the offices came in and told me that there was nothing in the channel at home. It was the treatment that I received from certain members of the board that night that ultimately led me to simply refuse to cover any School Committee meetings ever again. I am by no means alone on this stand, others refuse to do meetings for the same reason.

ginia H. Cole stated that she did not receive an apology from TCI. I would like to know if she is planning on apologizing to the crew for the manner in which she handled the situation. As far as questioning the programming abilities of public access television, I would like to state here that the television studio has gone far beyond televising town meetings. A documentary on Tewksbury State Hospital is due out soon. Also a program for the state of Massachusetts, under Project Safe Ride (which will be shown throughout the state in high school health classes beginning next year) is also currently in the production process. In addition, two other shows produced by students at the Andover Television Center have been nominated for the Massachusetts State Cable Awards. Aside from the support from the two club advisers and an adult volunteer, the productions are done solely by students from Andover High School.

So, yes, Ms. Cole, this is what you can expect on the coming information highway: Teen-agers who are doing the work of adult professionals but who are also sick and tired of being screamed at and insulted every time the equipment breaks down. If treatment like this persists, then it is my fear that every trained crew member will refuse to do meeting as I have, then where will you be? Still with no broadcasting and also, no one to place the blame on.

Bag it!

Editor, Townsmen:

Environmental Action Group of the Andovers (EAGA) has written to Sean Quinn, chairman of Andover Center Association, and to Carrie Crouch, president of North Andover Business and Professional Board of Trade, recently to encourage Andover and North Andover merchants to conserve store bags for purchases, especially during Earth Week (April 24-30).

We suggested that the merchants say, "Do you need a bag for that?" instead of automatically delivering a bag that often goes directly in the garbage when the customer gets home. Many merchants already practice this environmentally-benign and cost-effective approach to their end of transactions. We hope more will follow suit.

Of course this effort can only work if customers do their part. If you don't need a bag, please don't take one. Who knows? It might become a habit.

Say yes to video games

Editor, Townsmen:

I hope the selectmen will move quickly to approve the request to install video games by the Boston Card Co. in Olde Andover Village. To quote the town policy, "It is the policy guideline for the Board of Selectmen to license no more than four (4) video machines per establishment." The owner of the store is one of Andover's fine young people who are looking to find a place for themselves in the community. I think it is terrific that Lee Rosenberg is doing something productive with his life and Andover should encourage him and others like him.

AHS softball team wins season opener

By Rick Harrison

The 1994 Andover High softball team has already done something its 10 most recent predecessors couldn't.

Key fifth-inning doubles by senior Mindy Fox and junior Aprille Canniff, along with a gritty complete-game pitching performance by sophomore Vanessa Blank, enabled the Lady Warriors to edge North Andover 7-6 in a non-league season opener.

It marked the first time in at least a decade AHS won its first game in softball.

"We made a few errors, which a young team will do, but overall it was a nice way to start things off," said Coach Ken Pellerin. "I'm especially pleased the girls didn't hang their heads or feel sorry for themselves when we fell behind 4-0."

"Vanessa pitched far better than the score indicates. Her performance was a big plus."

Blank, who spent most of the last eight months recuperating from knee surgery to repair a damaged ACL, went the route and finished with a four-hitter. She struck out five, walked only one and yielded just two earned runs.

North Andover's hard-luck losing pitcher, Renee Cammarata, was also victimized by inconsistent defensive support. She tossed a matching four-hitter, walking six and whiffing three.

Originally scheduled for the NA Middle School field, the game was switched to Andover at the last minute because of field conditions.

The Scarlet Knights scored three runs in the top of the first, and made it 4-0 in the third before the home team pushed across a run without benefit of a hit in the bottom of the third.

Sophomore Sue Cookson was hit by a pitch, stole second, took third on junior Eileen Sweeney's sacrifice bunt, and scored the first run of the season on a wild pitch.

Fifth inning explosion

Andover then jumped ahead 6-4 with a five-run explosion in the fifth.

Sophomore Jen Munroe kicked off the rally with a double to right field, Cookson walked, Sweeney's fielder's choice grounder erased Munroe at third, and then Mindy Fox clouted a long two-run double to straightaway center field to make it 4-3.

Vanessa Blank and sophomore Meghan Lynch walked to load the bases, and Aprille Canniff put the Lady Warriors ahead for the first time with another mammoth double to center.

North Andover pulled even with a pair of unearned runs in the top of the seventh, using two AHS infield errors and a brace of wild pitches to tie it 6-6.

Andover won the game in the bottom of the seventh as Mindy Fox was hit by a pitch, stole second, took third on Lynch's sacrifice bunt, and raced across when sophomore Elaine Licata's two-out grounder to deep second base was booted for an error.

Eileen Sweeney produced the fourth Andover basehit, the only single, and was a defensive standout at catcher.

Also playing well in the field were first baseman Licata (10 putouts), pitcher Blank, shortstop Cookson and sophomore Deana Gray who made two good catches in center field.

Schedule

Andover was scheduled to open its Merrimack Valley Conference season yesterday against defending State Division 2 champion Wilmington and returning ace pitcher Adrienne Fay.

Coach Pellerin's squad is at Haverhill tomorrow (3:30 p.m.) and hosts Methuen next Tuesday (2 p.m.) at the refurbished West Middle School diamond.

The final regular season game on May 26, originally scheduled at home against North Andover, will now be played on the road.

AHS icemen hold banquet MVP's named, captains picked Underclassmen Scott Sullivan and Chris Cullen were named Co-Most Valuable Players of the varsity team, Scott Munroe and Dana DiFiore were elected captains of the 1994-'95 squad, and several other major awards were presented to varsity, junior varsity and Hat Trick Booster Club members at the recent Andover High hockey banquet at the Radisson Rolling Green Motor Inn.

Superintendent of Schools Mark McQuillan was the guest speaker.

Varsity co-MVPs Cullen and Sullivan were the scoring leaders during Andover 11-8-2 season, which produced a second place finish in the Small School Division of the Merrimack Valley Conference and another appearance in the Eastern Mass. Tournament where the Golden Warriors dropped a 6-2 first-round decision to Marian High of Framingham.

Cullen was tops in goals with 27 and points with 40, while Sullivan was close behind with 17 goals and 22 assists for 39 points.

Senior Marc Escott received the Coach's Award.

"This is our most important honor," said Coach Bill Cullen. "It is presented to the player who goes above and beyond the call of duty, which Marc did by playing left wing, center, defense and anywhere else I asked him to throughout the season."

By Don Staruk

More than 30 local runners have added their names to those who will take part in the 98th running of the Boston Marathon this Monday, Patriot's Day, April 18.

The 26.2-mile Boston Marathon begins at noon in Hopkinton and winds its way into downtown Boston to the finish line at Copley Square. It will be televised by the major networks.

Larry Higgins, 43, of 15 Teaberry Lane, will be running his first marathon ever when the gun goes off in Hopkinton on Patriot's Day.

Mr. Higgins has been running for about six years and when "a couple guys from work" said they were running Boston he decided to "go for the long one."

Mr. Higgins did his longest run, a 20 miler, two weeks ago. The longest race he's run is the 7.1-mile Falmouth Road Race, which he's run three times, finishing in 57 or 58 minutes.

"For an old man I feel good about that."

Mr. Higgins works at CLAM Associates in Cambridge, a computer software company, and one of the guys at work who is running is Bob Ragonese, 36, of 9 Enfield Drive, who will be running his first marathon. Mr. Ragonese is planning to run eight-minute miles for about a 3:30 finish. He has been running 15 or 16 years and runs 6:30 miles in shorter races.

John Green, 35, of Stoneybrook Circle, will be running his third marathon and first Boston. Mr. Green and his family moved to Andover from Chicago on Nov. 1, the day after he ran the Chicago Marathon in 2:59.

"It was just awful conditions," Mr. Green said.

It was snowing, the windchill hit 13 degrees in a 20-mph wind and there was ice on the race course. When the winner, a Mexican, was asked if he would return to defend his title, he responded, "No way -- too cold," according to Mr. Green.

Mr. Green was in good shape to try and repeat his impressive Chicago run up until about four weeks ago, he said. That's when, following a 20-mile run, he slipped 10 feet from his driveway and pulled some back muscles. He started running again two weeks ago, but his back was still bothering him. He was hoping to get in one more long run before Boston.

He has two goals for Boston.

"My minimum goal is to qualify for Boston next year. I need a 3:15," he said.

His greater goal is to match his Chicago run and break three hours.

Mr. Green and his wife, Nedra, have three children: Cameron, 2, Allison, who's in third grade, and Ashley, who's in sixth. Ms. Green is also a runner who runs five to six miles a day. She would like to run a marathon, according to her husband, but isn't yet convinced she can do the distance.

Keith Driscoll, 27, of 8 Joseph St. and a 1985 graduate of Andover High, is running his second Boston. He ran two years ago, then skipped last year.

"I think I'm in pretty good shape for it," Mr. Driscoll said. "I'm running for a child with leukemia."

He is part of a Leukemia Society of America group called Team in Training, 75 people, each of whom sponsors a child with leukemia by getting at least $1,000 in pledges. His child is Diamond Tinchin, a 4-year-old girl from Haverhill who has acute lymphatic leukemia. Mr. Driscoll would like to hear from anyone who would be interested in making a pledge. He can be reached at 1-800-683-5486.

He said he is doing well, but does not have all his pledges yet.

"I'm getting there."

His training is also getting there. He ran a 3:40 two years ago and hopes to beat that this time.

"I definitely want to beat 3:40," and will try for 3:30, "maybe a little better."

Mr. Driscoll ran track at AHS. "I was a hurdler. My idea of long distance was a quarter mile."

Bill Martin, 29, of Westford, a 1983 graduate of AHS and an employee at Hewlett-Packard in West Andover, is also running Boston.

"This will be my second marathon, my first Boston."

He is a member of the Hewlett-Packard running club and does some of his training at lunch time at work. He qualified with a 3:00:42 in Rhode Island in November and is looking to "break three hours."

He will probably run "6:45 miles for the first 20 miles or so, and whatever I have left at the end."

He was a sprinter on the AHS track team and at college.

"In graduate school I got into training for biathlons -- running and biking."

Now he's training for triathlons. He has been running long distance for six or seven years, but has held himself to 5-mile, 10-kilometer and occasionally 10-mile races. Last summer he felt he was in pretty good shape and decided that if he was going to run Boston, he wanted to qualify. That's why he ran Rhode Island.

Tom Jurgen, 28, and his sister, Diane Jurgen, 27, both from Andover and now living in Newton, are running Boston again this year. It will be her fifth Boston and his second. Their parents, Robert and Mel Jurgen, live at 88 Summer St.

The siblings will run the race together and try to finish together. Both had trouble with the heat last year and fell apart at the top of the hills, he with dehydration and she with stiff muscles.

"At the top of Heartbreak Hill, it was really just survival," Tom said.

He finished in 4:15, and she in 4:45.

"I survived it last year. We'll see about it this year," he said.

Tom said they would like to run it at least 4:15 this year, and that anything under four hours would be great.

Bill Hames, of Salem, N.H., will run his 12th Boston Marathon for charity, this time for Merrimack Valley Hospice of Andover.

For each marathon, Mr. Hames and his employer, Kevin Walton, general manager of Waste Management of Londonderry, N.H., choose a charitable organization to support. Since 1990, Mr. Hames' pledge monies have been donated to Merrimack Valley Hospice. This year the funds will go to Hospice's Open Gates Bereavement Support Group, a program that helps children explore and resolve grief.

During the past four years, Waste Management employees, with matching company funds, have raised more than $5,000 for Merrimack Valley Hospice.

To help, call Raymond Brockill at Hospice, 1-800-933-5593.

Rick Jaffe, of 125 Main St., and his brother, Keith Jaffe, of Bradford, both Andover High School graduates, will be running their 22nd marathon together, their 13th Boston.

Rick, 37, is AHS class of '75 and Keith, 39, is class of '73. Their first marathon was the Marine Corps Marathon in Washington, D.C., in 1981. Since then, they've run all their marathons together except one time when Rick was recovering from ankle surgery and couldn't run.

Rick's best time is 3:10. His worst is 4:10. His brother's times are "about the same," according to Rick.

For this year, "I just want to get to the start and hopefully to the finish," Rick said.

Baseball: Phillips Academy registers win against Andover High School

By Rick Harrison

Although it may have been for town bragging rights, this was not exactly a game for the ages.

However, Phillips Academy pushed across three runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to pull out a 10-9 season-opening victory over Andover High in the renewal of their non-league intra-town baseball rivalry.

It was the first time the public and prep school nines had met on the diamond in more than a decade.

This was a typically non-artistic first game filled with inconsistent pitching and sloppy fielding, but it still dripped with drama as the game was tied twice, had four lead changes and several impressive comebacks by both squads.

"We showed our inexperience," said Golden Warriors Coach Ken Maglio, whose team played without one of its top performers. "Hopefully we'll learn from the loss and build something positive."

Andover trio stars

It was a good win for Coach Andy Cline's Big Blue, the school on the hill whose top players include Andover residents and multi-sport stars Mike Sullivan (soccer, baseball), Brian Flanagan (hockey, baseball) and Todd Harris (football-basketball-baseball).

Occupying the first three spots in the batting order, the PA trio had a definite bearing on the outcome.

Senior center fielder Sullivan, who will attend Amherst College next fall, was 2-for-3 at the plate, scored two runs and made several outstanding plays including a spectacular flat-out diving catch in left center to rob Paul Allard of extra bases in the second inning.

Senior second baseman Flanagan contributed one single, walked twice and scored two runs, while junior shortstop Harris went 2-for-4 and scored once.

Harris and Flanagan also played solid defensive games as the Big Blue keystone combination, each registering several assists and putouts in the middle infield.

Flanagan and Harris were members of the 1988 Andover National Little League All-Star team, which went to Williamsport, Pa. for the World Series.

PA's local triumvirate turns from foe to friend in the summer when the three join many of the Andover High players on the Andover Legion Post 8 team.

Seesaw battle

Andover spotted Phillips a 3-0 lead in the bottom of the first. PG Ethan Bing's two-run single the key stroke.

AHS chipped away with two runs in the second when Bob Daley walked, junior Tom Gardner singled, Dana McCann walked to lead the bases, Chris Sintros lofted a sacrifice fly, and Gardner scored on Lembo's fielder's choice grounder.

Andover tied it 3-3 in the third on back-to-back triples by Daley and Gardner (RBI), the second three-bagger a ringing shot down the right field line.

Phillips responded with three runs in the bottom of the third to regain a 6-3 lead, Sullivan and Harris both lacing singles and the floodgates opening on a dropped third strike that allowed the first run to cross.

The Golden Warriors came right back to tie it 6-6 in the fourth.

Their runs were also tainted, as Paul Allard reached on an error and scored moments later on Toby Guzowski's infield out. A bases-loaded walk to Gardner forced home a run, and when McCann's grounder was misplayed the tying run crossed.

AHS moved ahead 8-6 in the fifth as Jeff Lembo singled, stole second and eventually scored on another infield out by Guzowski. Bob Daley spanked an RBI single later in the stanza.

The Big Blue inched closer with a run in the sixth, but Andover retaliated in the top of the seventh when Lembo walked, stole second and rode home on Guzowski's base hit for a 9-7 lead.

Phillips set the table in the bottom of the seventh with a single and double, and tied it when Jeff Cannon won a lengthy battle with senior reliever Tim Caverly by stroking a game-tying triple after Caverly almost struck him out several times.

Caverly was then replaced on the mound, and became the pitcher of record moments later when a wild pitch enabled Cannon to race home with the winning run.

Senior righthander Todd Murray started for the Golden Warriors, pitching four innings and yielding six hits, six runs (five earned) while walking five and striking out three.

Caverly also permitted six hits and four runs, all earned, in two innings.

The seven-hit Andover attack included two safeties each by Lembo, Daley and Gardner, while Guzowski had three RBI and Lembo played well defensively at third base.

Schedule

Andover was scheduled to host Merrimack Valley Conference rival Tewksbury in a non-league game yesterday, with junior lefty Kris Brown the announced starter on the mound.

The Warriors have another non-leaguer at Methuen tomorrow (3:30) and open the MVC schedule next Wednesday at home versus Wilmington (2 p.m.).

Pirates celebrate end of season with awards banquet

The Merrimack Valley Pirates swim team celebrated their end-of-season banquet last Friday evening and presented awards.

Graduating seniors Tim Connors, Kevin Eppig, Kristen Perrault, John Rhude and Lisa Verkomille were honored for completing their Pirate high school careers.

The following swimmers received awards:

In the 12 and under girls category: Susie Wilson was named hardest worker; Jackie LeMoine, most improved honors; and Connie Brown, most outstanding swimmer.

12 and under boys: Michael Richard was named the hardest worker; Brendon Griffin and Jonathan Meltz, the most improved; and Jeff Wilson, most outstanding.

13 and over girls: Tracie Grant was named the hardest worker; Lynsday St. Onge and Jessica Schoen, the most improved; and Clewis Kinnett, most outstanding.

13 and under boys: Chris Blongiewicz and Adam Schoen were named the hardest workers; David Howe and Jeff Middlemiss, the most improved; and John Newland, most outstanding.

Head Coach Michael Spring, on behalf of assistants Patty Fitzgerald, Scott Lovely, Lou Rosenfeld and Mark Taafe, gave the Coaches Award to Kristen Perrault.

The coaching staff gave individual award certificates to each team member. Co-captains Chris Blongiewicz and Kristen Perrault presented gifts and the team's thanks to the coaches.

Pirates compete in annual Allan B. Rogers swim meet

The Merrimack Valley Pirates swim team competed in the 31st annual Allan B. Rogers Swim Meet at the Lawrence Boys' Club pool. Eight Pirates scored points in a field of 24 teams.

In the 9-10 age group, Connie Brown won the 100-yard individual medley, 50-yard backstroke and 50-yard butterfly, in which she set a new pool record of :32.7. She also tied for first in the 50-yard freestyle with her sister, Sally, in :31.2. Connie also placed second in the 100 free.

Sally was second in the 50 fly and third in the 100 free, 100 individual medley, 50 breaststroke and 50 back.

Jackie Lemoine (11-12) won the 100 I.M., 50 fly, breaststroke and free and was second in the 100 free. Kerry Ann Russo placed third in the 100 I.M., 50 and 100 free and 50 fly, back and breaststroke. Matt Gagne was third in the 100 free.

In the 13-14 division, Jamie Viglione was third in the 200 I.M., 100 fly and 100 breaststroke. Anthony Sakakeeny was first in the 200 free and 100-yard breaststroke and second in the 50 free, 100 fly and back and 200 I.M.

Steven Girolamo (8 and under) finished in second place in the 25-yard breaststroke.

Boys, girls track teams roll over Wilmington, 107-38, 125-10

By Rick Harrison

The Andover High boys and girls track teams both opened their 1994 spring season with resounding Merrimack Valley Conference inter-division dual meet victories against visiting Wilmington at the Eugene V. Lovely oval.

The AHS boys rolled to a 107-38 triumph over the Wildcats, while the Lady Warriors came close to pitching a shutout with a 125-10 romp.

Coach Dick Collins' talented squads faced much stiffer competition yesterday against Chelmsford, whose teams also entered 1-0 after victories against Billerica.

Next Wednesday Andover will hit the road for morning vacation-week meets at Dracut High (10 a.m.).

Andover boys 107 Wilmington 38

The Golden Warriors placed first in 14 of the 17 events and swept the shot put, discus, javelin, long jump, triple jump and high jump.

In fact, Andover held an improbable 60-3 scoring edge in the seven field events while the running events were much more competitive (47-35).

Other individual first place finishers in the field events were junior Jason Veilleux in the javelin (139'9"), junior Brian Marshall in the long jump (21'2"), junior Scott Savage in the triple jump (40'9") and sophomore Dan Taylor in the pole vault (10'6").

On the track the gold medals went to junior sprinter Mike Marcinonis in the 100 meters (11.7), sophomore Josh Hatch in the 200 meters (24.6), junior Mark Adams in the mile (4:55.0) and sophomore Charlie Russo in the 2-mile (10:32.0).

The locals also won the 4x100 meter sprint relay with sophomore Alex Dalis, sophomore Chris Richter, Hatch and Marcinonis (46.3).

Completing field event sweeps were junior Spencer Wendt (37'11") and sophomore Chris Dunn (35'7") in the shot, junior Mike Dalton (119'7") and sophomore Jason Dalton (94'6") in the discus, senior Adam Anderson (127'0") and Nick Kryslowski (118'1") in the javelin, Savage (191'1") and junior Eric Thompson (191'0") in the long jump, Thompson (40'4") and sophomore Paul McNiece (36'10") in the triple jump, Marcinonis (5'6") and Richter (5'6") in the high jump.

Additional seconds went to sophomore Mike Shaughnessy (18.0 in 110 high hurdles), junior Matt Perrault (44.9 in 300 intermediate hurdles), junior Matt Ely (54.6 in 400 meters) and senior Rick Crispo (2:07.9 in 800 meters).

Also placing third for Andover were junior Max Soong (45.8 in 300 intermediate hurdles), freshman Peter Ellis (18.9 in 110 high hurdles), junior Kevin Shepard (2:10.9 in 800 meters) and junior Chris Fromme (5:04.0 in mile).

Andover girls 125 Wilmington 10

The Lady Warriors placed first in 15 of the 16 events, yielding only in the discus, and they swept the shot put, javelin, long jump, triple jump, high jump, 100 meters, 200 meters, mile, 2-mile and both relays.

They were facing a Wilmington team with only 14 girls.

Juniors Jamie Barron and Kim Daher were double winners, while senior Captain Stacey Lavoie made a triumphant return to competition by capturing the 100-meter high hurdles, placing second in the high jump and anchoring the victorious 4x100 sprint relay team.

Barron won both the long jump (personal-best 17'6") and 100 meter dash (13.6), while Miss Daher tossed the shot put 30'11" and the javelin 92'9".

The winning 4x400 meter relay quartet consisted of Katie Aeder, Missy Sheer, Valerie Bruno and Jocelyn Gould (5:22.8).

Other major varsity award winners were senior defenseman and captain Paul Allard, senior forward Bob Daley and junior goaltender Jason Veilleux.

Allard earned the Dedication Award for his leadership and determination in coming back from a late-season injury to play in the tournament.

Three-year mainstay Daley was the team's Unsung Hero. His consistently fine play was often overshadowed but never under-appreciated by his coaches and teammates.

Jason Veilleux, who had two shutouts and a number of excellent performances in net, was the Most Improved Player.

Scott Munroe and Dana DiFiore were chosen to lead the Warriors next season.

Both will be seniors, and Munroe will be on the comeback trail after missing virtually the entire 1993-94 season with a broken leg suffered in the second game against Billerica.

Munroe was also recognized by the league when he received the MVC Sportsmanship Award at the season-ending All-Star Games against the Cape Ann League.

Hat Trick Club

A special Appreciation Award was given to Dick Allard, who resigned after a long stint as president of the Hat Trick Club.

Also stepping down from the Boosters organization after doing yeoman work are treasurer Steve Munroe, and tireless volunteer Lynne Allard who did a little bit of everything for the group.

The Hat Trick officers for 1994-95 are new president Barbara Munroe, vice-presidents Jean Seero and Liz Busby, secretary Kathy DiFiore, treasurer Frank Mazza, fundraising chairwoman Joyce Cullen and cheer-leading coordinator Ella Workman.

AHS Junior Varsity

Junior forward Mike Blanchette was named Most Valuable Player of the Andover JV hockey team, which finished the season with a 9-7-3 record.

Other top awards for Head Coach

Junior varsity goaltenders were Taylor Gleason and Ryan Lynch.

Brothers Robert Kwon and Albert Kwon began the season with the JV team, and both were promoted to the varsity's third line after the fourth game.

Junior Julie Rozopoulos won the 300 intermediate hurdles (52.4), Miss Levesque the 200 meters (28.2), freshman Samantha Witman the 400 meters (1:07.3), junior Amanda Verreault the 800 meters (2:36.7), sophomore Erin Collins the mile (6:06.0) and sophomore Susan Ashlock the deuce (12:12.0).

runner-up in the 200 meter dash and third in the 100 meters.

Rounding out the AHS scorers in third were junior Beth Cummins (shot), junior Leah Mason (javelin), Miss Rozopoulos (long jump), Miss Verreault (high jump) and sophomore Liz Salvia (200 meters).

"It was nice to see Stacey Lavoie come back so strongly," said Coach Collins. "We also had all three top finishers in the triple jump go over 32 feet, and all three girls in the javelin throw more than 90 feet. Those distances were encouraging."

AHS volleyball team takes no prisoners

By Rick Harrison

The Golden Warrior netmen took no prisoners in recent 2-0 sweeps of Boston-based J.D. O'Bryant, first-year varsity team St. John's Prep of Danvers and Central Mass. foe Milford High.

AHS blasted J.D. by game scores of 15-5, 15-2, opened defense of their North Alliance championship by dispatching SJP 15-0, 15-3, and cruised to a 15-6, 15-2 triumph over Milford.

Coach George Sullivan's squad improved to a perfect 4-0 overall, including 1-0 in league action, and the Warriors are 64-27 lifetime.

AHS was scheduled to play at Methuen yesterday, and the locals host Lowell tomorrow at the Dunn Gymnasium (3:30 p.m.) prior to a 12-day lay-off over spring vacation.

Action picks up again April 27 and 28 with back-to-back league matches at home versus Chelmsford and away at Billerica.

"There is still plenty of room of improvement in our play," said Coach Sullivan. "But we're off to a great start. We have a terrific group of kids with a lot of class."

Andover 2 J.D. O'Bryant 0

"We played much better than we did in the opening win against Brockton," said Coach Sullivan. "Everybody was in sync. The blocking and overall defense was sharp, and we also benefitted from a large and enthusiastic home crowd."

"J.D. O'Bryant (1-1) had some leapers and strong hitters, so we tried to get up in their face as much as possible," said Coach Sullivan. "We mixed up our hitting, although we didn't do any crosses or tandems. J.D. stuffed us a few times, but overall we were on target with both our hits and serves."

Senior Captain J.P. Guerard had 7-for-9 good hits, with a team-high five kills, and he was a perfect 8-for-8 serving with one ace (unreturnable serve).

Senior middle hitter Alex Raymond was 7-for-7 hitting, including four kills, and he played a strong overall game up front at the net.

Senior Doug Miller was 4-for-4 hitting, with four kills, and 12-for-13 serving with one ace.

Senior Captain Glenn Wilson had similar hitting stats, 4-for-4 with four kills, and six of his nine serves were good ones.

Senior Jim Woodroffe and junior Sean Croteau were both an impeccable 6-for-6 serving in the 15-5, 15-2 romp.

Andover 2 St. John's Prep 0

The varsity and JV matches combined took just 80 minutes, as the Golden Warriors were in and out of Danvers with lightning speed.

"St. John's has good size, but it's their first year of varsity play and they lack experience," said Coach Sullivan. "When St. John's was able to control the ball it did well, but the trouble came in serve-receive and passing."

Andover put 34 of 37 serves in play, registering the lopsided 15-0, 15-3 league-opening romp while giving the reserves plenty of floor time.

"We could very easily have taken the match for granted and become sloppy," said Coach Sullivan. "But I was pleased with the intensity level our kids maintained in both games."

Junior setter Tim Foley played an outstanding match with 7-for-7 hitting, including four kills, and 4-for-5 serving.

"None of our statistics are overly impressive because everyone played and we spread the wealth," said Coach Sullivan.

Doug Miller contributed a flawless performance with 7-for-7 serving and 4-for-4 hitting. Jim Woodroffe was 8-for-8 serving, and Glenn Wilson 13-for-14 serving and 2-for-2 hitting with one kill.

"Glenn used his jump serve several times and it worked well," noted Sullivan. "We'll probably use it against some of the tougher opponents on our schedule. It takes awhile to build a program and St. John's will continue to improve."

Andover 2 Milford 0

Despite the absence of Captain J.P. Guerard (flu), the Golden Warriors rolled to the 15-6, 15-2 triumph over a Milford squad that had beaten Billerica (2-0) and lost to Xaverian of Westwood in earlier matches.

"I was worried because we had a close match with Milford (1-2) during the (pre-season) Play-Day at Holliston," said Coach Sullivan.

The concern was unfounded, however, as the first game was never close and the second was a near-shutout as Andover rolled out to a 14-0 lead.

"Once again the statistics were well spread out. We did some crosses, tandems and slants, trying to isolate and confuse their middle hitter," explained the coach.

Obviously the strategy worked.

Junior Aaryn Schmuhl had a strong match with 14-for-14 serving and 5-for-6 hitting.

Alex Raymond was 11-for-11 hitting with six kills, Glenn Wilson 10-for-10 hitting (five kills) and 8-for-8 serving, Tim Foley 11-for-13 hitting (five kills) and 9-for-10 serving, Joe Hogarty 5-for-5 hitting (one kill), Doug Miller 4-for-4 hitting, Jim Woodroffe 8-for-8 serving and junior Sean Croteau 6-for-7 serving.

Coach Sullivan also cited Schmuhl for his excellent cover defense and Foley for his setting.

Andover JVs

The junior varsity squad also improved to 4-0 by rolling to 2-0 victories over J.D. O'Bryant, St. John's Prep and Milford.

In the 15-4, 15-2 sweep of J.D., sophomore Shaun Rodriguez finished 9-for-9 serving and was the top setter.

"Shaun is a natural at setting. He has the great hand coordination it takes to develop that skill," said Coach Sullivan.

PA TIDBITS

The boys and girls lacrosse teams opened their season with victories for Phillips Academy. The boys faced Providence Country Day in Providence, R.I. They jumped to a 9-3 lead at halftime behind the offensive play of Andover native Adam Gurry, Parker Sides and Ben Rymzo. Gurry finished the game with two goals and Rymzo and Sides each had four goals to earn the 13-7 victory. Sides also had four assists.

The girls traveled to Middlesex. The game was tied 5-5 at the half when Middlesex went on a four-goal scoring spree to bring the game to 9-5 with 12 minutes left to play. Led by offensive powers, Meghan Madera (hat trick), Ali Coughlin (four goals), Heidi Cline (one goal) and captain Nicole Rhodes (two goals), the team rallied back with five goals to earn the 10-9 victory. Rhodes gained possession of the ball at mid-field with 16 seconds left and raced to the goal to score the game-winner with five seconds remaining. Newcomers Jen Karlen and Julie Gwonds and veterans Emily Kalkstein, Anne-Marie Anagstoupolous and Vanessa Kerry led the team on defense.

The girls tennis team began their season with victories against Taft Academy and Hotchkiss. Kito Robinson (#1 singles player) and Alex Olson (#2 singles) won their matches against Hotchkiss to lead the team to a 5-4 victory. Robinson and Tiffany Freitas won their doubles match. Kristin Leuner won in straight sets, 6-3, 6-0, in an 8-1 win over Taft.

The boys baseball team lost a scrimmage 8-6 to Haverhill High School. Captain and Andover native Mike Sullivan, Andover's Todd Harris, ice hockey goalie Judd Brackett and football standout Josh Carroll will lead the team this year.

The girls softball team won their scrimmage against Beverly High School 5-4. The squad is captained by Andover native Jessie Drench and soccer and ice hockey star Jill Cassie. Newcomer Molly Bell will split games with Drench on the pitching mound and Jane Peachy will most likely see time as catcher.

The track teams captains are Berk Nelson and Trevor Bayliss and Leslie Dise. The girls team easily captured the cross-country and indoor track championships thus far. Cynthia Miller, Karen O'Connor and Tanya Thomas will join Dise.

Named national champions last summer, seniors Leah Henderson and Courtney Peck of Andover and Stacey Sanders will be on the girls crew team again this year. Laurie Coffey, a newcomer to Phillips, has been impressive in the preseason and Andover native Kealy O'Connor will also be someone to watch.

Phillips Academy recently held their winter sports award banquet. Several Andover student-athletes received awards.

Emily Kalkstein received the Robert L. Wurster Basketball Trophy awarded to a senior member of the team who has contributed the most to the sport and school through sportsmanship, endeavor and ability.

Stephen Hosmer received the Peter Q. McKee Ski Cup awarded to the member of the alpine ski team who has contributed most to the team.

Y offers swim classes; holds healthy kids celebration

The Andover/North Andover branch of the YMCA will offer its "Learn to Swim Campaign" for boys and girls 3 1/2-12 years old April 19-22. Classes are scheduled at 9 and 10:30 a.m., 1, 1:45 and 3:15 p.m. The beginner skills course is held to introduce non-YMCA members to the Y and its aquatics program. The course fee is $11. Call the Y at 685-3541.

The Y's annual National Healthy Kids Day celebration will be held April 23 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Swimming, aerobics and sports classes, demonstrations and exhibits will be part of this informative program for the whole family. For more information, call Brian Dorrington, physical director, at the Y.

Greg Litchfield was 10-for-10 serving and added strong defensive play, while Pat Hess was 6-for-7 hitting with five kills.

In a 15-3, 15-6 romp over SJP, Hess was 5-for-5 and Andy Shen 6-for-7 hitting.

Sophomore Joe Hogarty and 6'3" freshman Nick Wilson added three hits each, and 43 of the team's 49 serves were good.

The 15-8, 15-4 sweep of Milford was led by the hitting of junior Abdel Ortiz, the setting and passing of Shaun Rodriguez, and the all-around play of lanky Nick Wilson.

Andy Shen was 8-for-11 hitting with five kills, Greg Litchfield 5-for-6 hitting and 4-for-4 serving, and Jeong An 13-for-14 serving.

More than 30 locals will run Monday's Boston Marathon

Tom McCarron, 37, of 16 Balmoral St., will be running his second Boston Marathon. He finished in 3:36 last year, which is about an 8:15 pace. This year he will try to better last year's time and at least break 3:30, which would be about eight-minute miles.

Leo Blais, 16, 8 Rasmussen Circle, who runs track and cross country for Andover High School, attempted his first marathon ever last year at Boston but the heat forced him to drop out at 21 miles. He's in better shape this year, but didn't want to jinx himself by predicting a specific time.

Susan Siefer, 47, of 16 Balmoral St., is getting ready for her third marathon.

She ran Boston, her first, last year in 4:35. She then ran the Rhode Island Marathon in November in 3:58. She needs 3:55 to qualify for her age group for next year, but will be happy to come close.

"I'm trying to break four hours," she said.

Sharon Yu, 41, of 9 Shipman Road, will be running her eighth marathon, her fourth Boston. She qualified with a 3:45 at Lowell last November. Her best marathon ever was a 3:39 in Lowell in 1991. She needs a 3:50 to requalify for next year, but isn't sure if Boston will be the place to do it.

"It'll depend on the weather."

She just hopes it isn't either too hot or too cold. She'll need to average about 8:40 per mile to requalify.

Bob Cronin, 38, Andover police patrolman, and his wife, Sue Cronin, 43, will be running again this year. Officer Cronin had a tough race last year in the heat, taking more than four hours to complete it, and is just hoping to finish with dignity this year.

"I'm looking to finish with control of all my bodily functions," he said.

Ms. Cronin finished in 3:44 last year and is hoping to finish in about 3:30 this year.

Mark Hagan, 36, 4 Sevilla Road, and Arthur Derbyshtre, 49, of 8 Argyle St., will run the race as part of the fifth annual Dana-Farber Marathon Challenge to support cancer research at Dana-Farber Cancer Institute in Boston.

They will be among the nearly 300 runners who will attempt to raise $500,000 during Monday's race to support the institute's Claudia Adams Barr Program in Cancer Research. Last year, nearly 200 runners garnered more than $380,000 for the program. Over the past four years, the program has raised $850,000 to fund the innovative basic research of approximately 20 investigators.

To help out with the Marathon Challenge, call 800-551-7036.

Other Andover runners include:

Stephen S. Anderson, 30, Phillips Academy; James Batts, 52, 16 Argyle St.; Beth Benson, 32; Lisa Doucett, 38, 137 N. Main St.; Robert Gould, 51, 21 Greylarch Road; John Iulucci, 51, 3 Pendant Court;

Mark Longwell, 33; Maureen Mahoney, 29; Reginald Marden, 46, 10 Orchard St.; Sam Nork, 30; Christine Robertsen, 57, Stevens Street; Lawrence Rosenblatt, 30; Jonathan Stableford, 49, Phillips Academy; and Kevin Sullivan, 45, 55 North St.

Editor's note: Townsman reporter Don Staruk and sales manager Don Schwaneckamp will also run Boston. Mr. Staruk is setting his sights for a 3:30, and Mr. Schwaneckamp four hours.

Local participants are invited to join the Townsman for a group photo in Hopkinton on race morning. The photo will be taken at 11 a.m. in the same spot as the last three years, in front of the two large green water tanks in front of the High School. Just ask and somebody will point you in the right direction.

Report your results

If you are planning to run the Boston Marathon and you live or work in Andover, the Townsman wants to know about it.

The Townsman's marathon coverage will wind up with the results and tales of how locals fared during the race in the April 21 and 28 issues.

Runners are asked to call the Townsman, 475-1943, with their results after the run. (If you're too tired, ask a friend to call.)

If you need a ride

The Merrimack Valley Striders running club will operate two buses to take runners to the marathon this year. The buses leave from the Andover High School at 8:30 a.m. Monday. For more information on seat availability and reservations, call the Striders at 687-8887.

Early Deadlines

Due to Patriot's Day this Monday, April 18, the deadline for news and display ads is tomorrow, Friday, at noon; classified ads remain Tuesday at noon. See page 3.

A new publication is coming ...

Automotive QUARTERLY

A publication of the Andover Townsman newspaper.

The Andover Townsman, one of the largest weekly newspapers in the Boston market, is proud to announce that it will publish the first issue of its new Automotive Quarterly section on June 9, 1994.

This publication will follow the automotive industry as new trends and new models are announced. It will also keep the reader informed with sales figures from the manufacturers and informative pieces will provide tips on maintaining top vehicle performance.

The editorial material is provided by car manufacturers, the National Institute for Automotive Excellence, and many other sources.

Automotive Quarterly will be distributed to all of the Townsman's paid subscribers (more than 7,500 households) as well as mailed directly to 4,425 residents in the affluent towns of North Andover and Boxford.

Automotive Quarterly will be a magazine-like publication. It will be printed on 45-pound white offset special stock and there will be an abundance of color throughout the pages.

The deadline for space reservations and ad copy is May 25; camera ready ads, June 1.

YMCA Level 6 gymnasts place first at league championships

The Andover/North Andover YMCA Level 6 girls gymnasts took first place at a recent YMCA league championship meet in a field of eight teams, three of which have dominated the league for the past three years. Jennifer Mangano took first place in the age 14 Andover division and Kaitlin Doyle took first in the 10 and under division with Ashley McLaughlin second and Jackie Barry placing fifth all around. Sheri Bernstein, Meghan O'Connell, Frank Kimball and Hope Scandore were individual event medal winners.

The Level 8 (optional) team took third place in the league, with Kate Gerry and Duyen Luong placing on individual events.

The Level 5 team came in fourth with Cristin Sawyer placing fifth all around and Rachel Harkins sixth all around. Event winners were Kelly McLaughlin, Kaitlin O'Toole, Leslie Nichols, Julie Castignetti, Becky Dann and Lyndsay Roy.

The Level 4 team, whose average age is 8, placed fifth in a field of 11 teams in their first year of competition. Rachel Goldman took fourth place all around and Libby Fortier and Jenicka Hornung placed fifth all around with Elizabeth Middleton and Sarah Loscutt placing on individual events.

AHS coach is CCH Hall of Fame inductee

Andover High boys' varsity basketball Coach Dave Fazio is one of 12 persons, including 10 athletes, one coach and one contributor, who will be inducted into the Central Catholic High Athletic Hall of Fame this spring.

The fifth-year Golden Warriors' coach, a 1983 CCHS graduate and 1987 Salem State grad, will be inducted during ceremonies at the school on Saturday, May 14.

Tickets are $25 and include dinner and dancing. Tables of eight may be reserved.

Fazio, a Lawrence native now living in North Andover, was a basketball and baseball standout at Central from 1981-'83.

Also among the dozen inductees are Bobby Licare and Leo Parent (both Class of 1984), who joined Fazio on a pair of Merrimack Valley Conference championship basketball teams.

Fazio is also the only individual to win Greater Lawrence Christmas Basketball Festival titles as both a player (1982) and coach (1993).

The Convertible Built From The Ground Up. Not The Top Down.

Years ago, we could have brought you a soft top, or we could have modified one of our other models. But that's not our style. In the Audi Cabriolet, we built a great car first, a convertible, second.

We gave it a 2.8 liter, V-6, 4-speed automatic powertrain and the road-handling you expect from a car developed near the Alps. So, for the first time in North America, you can put the top down on an Audi, go find a winding road and let the good times roll.

And you can really leave all the hassles behind when it comes to maintenance. You get a 3-year or 50,000-mile scheduled maintenance plan covering even wiper blades and oil changes at no charge. There's much more, but why waste your time reading? Come in and see us for a test-drive now.

Owner Sheila Finocchiaro and her daughter and assistant Gina Finocchiaro.

Kreative Kin

Due to their success in accommodating the need for their unique service of personalizing, embroidering and monogramming, Kreative Kin has moved to a more spacious store for the convenience of their customers. After only two years in business, they have moved to a site six times larger than their former shop. They are now located at Olde Andover Village, South Mall Annex, 93 Main Street, Andover.

At Kreative Kin, monogramming is more than for formal clothing or household linens. It is for whatever may catch your fancy. Owner Sheila can take an ordinary gift idea and make it a personalized reflection of the giver and recipient. Creating a family heirloom is a special joy for Sheila, whether it is monogramming a christening gown, bridal handkerchief or matzoh or challah cover.

Among the many articles in the shop that are popular for personalizing are card table covers, DOP kits for men, towels, mat covers for preschool and day care youngsters, adult covers for floor routine work-out mats, bandanas for your favorite pet, director chairs and replacement covers, tote bags, blank hats, blank neckties, a large array of baby gifts and table linens. In addition to the many articles that may be chosen from Kreative Kin's inventory, they are pleased to monogram anything you bring in.

On the more practical side are monogramming children's personal belongings for camp or sweat shirts that easily get mixed up on playing fields. Monograms for linings of fur coats is a popular service.

Kreative Kin personalizes articles for teams, groups and individuals with names and logos. Whether for practical, business, sentimental or whimsical reasons, Kreative Kin will personalize items that are unique and display special care in their choice.

Kreative Kin invites the community to an Open House on Saturday, April 23, from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. to celebrate the opening of their new store. Refreshments will be served.

Hours are Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Wednesday and Saturday 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Healing Hands - owner, Helen Rose

The Benefits of Therapeutic Massage

Massage is a healing art; a valuable component of holistic health care. Our goal at Healing Hands is to assist you in restoring and maintaining peace, balance, and wholeness in your body, mind and spirit.

We often experience physical discomfort due to muscle overuse and/or misuse. Old and new injuries, chronic fixed posture, and vigorous physical activity can contribute to tense, tired, and aching muscles. Massage can help by increasing circulation, improving muscle tone, and relaxing muscle spasms. Massage is also a perfect addition to any wellness program.

Mental stress also causes tension in our bodies. Stress in our job or at home and changes in our lives can be difficult to deal with. Headaches and tight, aching neck, shoulder, and back muscles can be the result. Therapeutic massage can release chronic tension and pain in those areas.

Healing from past emotional trauma, painful memories, and issues such as touch, chemical dependency, or abuse can also cause tension in our bodies. Our massage therapists' trained touch assists your body in its own natural healing process whether the healing be physical, mental, and/or emotional in nature. In a quiet, peaceful, safe environment we give unhurried, nurturing, professional and confidential support to our clients.

Call Helen Rose at Healing Hands, located on North Main Street, Andover, for more information. 470-2773

Clifford Jewelers

Jewelry is the gift of choice for many during the upcoming holidays and celebrations this spring. Whether you prefer the classic types of jewelry, a custom made piece or renovation of a family heirloom, owner John Clifford and manager Jean Foley are available to assist you in choosing that important gift.

Clifford's annual remounting event, with over 700 rings on view from which to choose, will again take place this year on April 21, 22 and 23. If you are considering updating or changing your rings, this is a good opportunity to get some ideas.

One of the outstanding features of Clifford Jewelers is the unique custom work that is provided by owner John Clifford. You may view one-of-a-kind pieces he has created, or make an appointment to design your own. Many rings, bracelets, pendants and earrings are exclusively created for the store by him and are available for your individual taste. He is also skilled at repairing heirloom jewelry. Customers may bring in used gold (broken chains, ring settings, etc.) and John will design, at considerable savings, a jewelry piece that will be wearable. This preserves the sentimental value, since the same gold is used.

Gold and stone jewelry, sterling silver, pearls, a line of scarab jewelry and children's pieces are displayed. A full line of watches is also available.

For the customers' convenience, Clifford Jewelers has two locations: North Andover and Salem, N.H. Both include repair and custom services. Most repairs are performed in Salem while the customer waits; jewelry repairs are not sent out to another location. They specialize in appraisals, which are also done on the premises while you wait (items do not have to be left in the store).

Clifford Jewelers' North Andover store is located at Messina's Plaza, 109 Main Street. Telephone: (508) 682-4653. The Salem, N.H. location is 450 South Broadway, Route 28, Newman's Plaza, across from Tri-Cinema. Telephone: (603) 894-5755. The stores are open Tuesday through Saturday. John Clifford is at the North Andover store on Friday and Saturday afternoons and available in Salem at all other times.

as described below, all and singular the premises described in

TO WIT:

Property in Andover known as Unit No. B1-9 Colonial Drive ("Unit") of the Andover's Colonial Drive Condominium ("The Condominium"), located at Andover, Massachusetts, which condominium was created pursuant to M.G.L. Chapter 183A by the recording of a Master Deed (the "Master Deed") dated June 18, 1987 and recorded on June 17, 1987 with the Essex North Registry of Deeds in Book 2522, Page 105 and as of record amended from time to time.

Said unit contains approximately 719 square feet and is shown on the floor plan of the building recorded with the Master Deed and on the unit plan recorded with the first unit deed recorded here-

The unit is conveyed together with a 4519% undivided interest in the common area and facilities as defined and described in the Master Deed and the exclusive right to use those common areas and facilities appurtenant to said Unit as set forth in the Master Deed.

The unit is subject to and has the benefit of all rights, easements, agreements, interest and provisions contained in the Master Deed and the rules and regulations and by-laws adopted thereto, as any of the same may be amended from time to time, pursuant to the provisions thereof, as well as the provisions of Chapter 183A of the Massachusetts General Laws as the same may be amended from time to time.

TERMS OF THE SALE: Said premises will be sold and conveyed subject to any and all outstanding municipal or other public taxes, tax titles, assessments, liens or claims in the nature of liens, rights of tenants and parties in possession, and existing encumbrances of record including but not limited to liens secured pursuant to the terms of M.G.L. Ch. 183A, Section 6 as amended, which take precedence over the said mortgage above described and also to all laws and ordinances including but not limited to, all building and zoning ordinances.

REQUEST FOR PROPOSAL - DESCRIPTION OF PROPERTY TO BE ACQUIRED FOR CONSERVATION PURPOSES IN THE TOWN OF ANDOVER

In accordance with the provisions of G.L. ch. 30B the Conservation Commission of the Town of Andover hereby gives notice of its intention to purchase vacant land located within the Town of Andover for conservation purposes and requests proposals from owners who wish to sell their property. All property is being purchased for conservation purposes under the provisions of M.G.L. c. 40 & 8c, for uses including passive recreation, protection of public water supply, and watershed protection. Funds available for this purpose are authorized under Article 62 of the 1993 Town of Andover Town Meeting. All purchases of real property must be approved by the Conservation Commission and the Board of Selectmen.

SPECIFICATIONS / SUBMISSION REQUIREMENTS

All real property to be considered must be located within the Town of Andover; must have marketable title satisfactory to the Town; must be free of liens and encumbrances; and must have real estate taxes paid to date of sale. RFP's must at minimum include the following: property location (preferably by street address); Tax Map and Lot Number (including Subdivision Lot, if any); copy of current deed with Registry of Deeds Book and Page reference; owner(s) name(s); owner(s) mailing address; owner(s) telephone number, if any; area in acreage or square feet; a statement as to whether the property is bounded by survey monuments or not; and statement of price at which property is being offered. A plan (s) of the property is requested if available. RFP's for only a portion of a parcel shall state the area in acreage or square feet which is being offered. The seller shall be responsible for the subdivision of such parcels and all associated costs.

EVALUATION CRITERIA

The following Conservation Land Acquisition policy was adopted by the commission and will be considered in selecting property for acquisition:

1. Property that is part of the Hagglets Pond - Fish Brook watershed, the procurement of which will benefit Andover's water system;
2. Property bordering the Shawshen and Merrimack Rivers, and any other water body within the community.
3. Property that will bridge existing Open Space areas to develop greenbelt networks, i.e. interconnect existing conservation areas.
4. Property selected in various parts of the community to ensure that open space exists in all sections of the Town.

Proposals will be evaluated under this policy and the following criteria: cost, size, utility for passive recreational use, potential for pedestrian and/or vehicular access, soils classification, topography, slope, unique landscape features, aesthetic value, scenic vistas, vegetational cover, diversity of wildlife habitat, wetland resource areas, and presence / absence of hazardous materials.
The Conservation commission reserves the right to consider any other criteria which it may later adopt.

CONTRACT TERMS AND CONDITIONS

The terms and conditions of the purchase are to be acceptable to Town Counsel, including but not limited to, certification that the premises are not in violation of environmental and hazardous waste laws. The Town of Andover specifically reserves the right to accept or reject any proposal.

Recycle

DO YOU HAVE an item or items that you no longer need, but that would be useful to someone else, something you'd be willing to give away for someone would come get it? For instance: boxes, storm windows, a child's bicycle, cardboard boxes, an old set of dishes. You can list your recyclable items in the Townsman's newest classified section: "RECYCLE" (FREE of charge!)

It's a way to clean up your place while acknowledging the world is running out of landfill space. Simply write us listing your recyclables and we'll print them in the paper. No phone calls please.

A new publication is coming ... Classic Real Estate

A publication of the Andover Townsman newspaper.

The real estate market is turning around at a rapid rate. This year, as more homes are being built and existing homes are selling, the Andover Townsman, one of the largest weekly newspapers in the Boston market, is pleased to announce a new biannual publication: Classic Real Estate. This magazine-style publication will feature homes from Cape Cod to Maine, as well as New Hampshire and Vermont, with values of $350,000 and higher.

This section, which will have its first issue published May 12, benefits both the Realtor® and the reader. The Realtor® is able to showcase prized properties and the reader will benefit from valuable information on topics such as jumbo mortgages. The reader will be treated to "guided tours" of some houses on the market through photo layouts and feature stories.

Classic Real Estate will be distributed to all of the Townsman's paid subscribers (more than 7,500 households) as well as directly mailed to 4,425 homes in North Andover and Boxford. Classic Real Estate will be printed on 45-pound white offset paper and there will be an abundance of color throughout the pages.

The deadline for space reservations and ad copy is April 27; camera ready ads, May 4.

Duane Tibbetts

Duane Tibbetts developed strong financial and interpersonal skills in a previous corporate career and, through building and remodeling his own homes, knows the nuts and bolts of construction. Having moved his family five times, Duane understands the potential for stress and is ready to help smooth the process. His warm personality and keen listening ability will allow Duane to quickly discover your needs and wants, to help you realize your real estate goals. "I stopped at your Main Street office and met Duane Tibbetts. He asked the proper questions and the search began. After our first afternoon of looking Duane had a clear understanding of what we had in mind and the process became simple and less time consuming, as Duane only showed us homes he knew we would be interested in. He was helpful in identifying obvious problems and recommending possible corrective action. Once we narrowed our search to two listings he aided with a quiet persistence that helped make it happen."

Selectmen previously voted to take no position on the article, and stuck with that vote at the meeting.

Joanne Zelubowski, of 2 Country-side Way, said a sign that reads "Not a through street" has been posted at the end of the road for seven years and that she wanted to keep it that way.

"My main reason is safety," she said.

She asked voters not to buy into the "scare tactics" of those who say the lack of paving makes it more dangerous for school buses because they would have to use South Main Street. The buses use the cut-through now, she said. She said the dirt stretch of private road makes people slow down and think as they come into an area with many children.

"Is it too much to ask for people in Massachusetts to think when they're driving?" Ms. Zelubowski asked.

Ms. Zelubowski also said that, on the way into a previous public meeting on the issue, she heard Mr. Rauseo vow to Dick Moody, of 95 Sunset Rock Road, was against the article.

"This is a problem the town has created," Mr. Moody said.

He said the town promised residents who attended a hearing on development in the area years ago that that section of road would never be opened to the public. But he said there was more to the issue than that.

"I just don't think it's right using town money to do private-property improvement," Mr. Moody said.

Michelle Eudailey, of 100 Sunset Rock Road, said she has lived there four years and that the developer who sold the Rauseos their lot used to maintain the road, and that the road has gotten worse since he left. She favored paving it.

Ms. Rauseo finally spoke.

"I hope I have all the influence that Mr. Heitz thinks I do," she said, referring to Mr. Heitz' allegations that she was well connected in town since she once served on the Finance Committee. "If it can't be closed, the road should be safe - take that responsibility," Ms. Rauseo said.

Ms. Heitz then went to the microphone and began to talk to the danger issue, saying that it was children who were in danger, not motorists. She began to tell that she is a nurse and has seen too many children hurt by speeding cars when she started to cry. She managed to stop crying and ended by saying it was evident by the approval of the $40.5 million schools article Monday night that residents in Andover care about children, and asked them to show it by voting against Article 22.

A glance at some other articles

Articles 22-49 were covered at Tuesday night's meeting.

• Article 24 was approved, allowing $39,600 in free cash to be used to cover unexpected special-education costs caused by the expulsion of several special needs students.

• Article 26 was also approved, allowing restrictions on the location, size and duration of temporary political signs placed on private property.

• The passage of Article 29 showed the town's acceptance of a state statute allowing stores to sell alcohol on Sundays, Christmas and Memorial Day for one additional hour.

• After discussion and several amendments, Article 40, seeking pedestrian regulations, was voted down.

• Articles 43 and 44, dealing with the placement of convenience stores in industrial area of town, were both voted down as well.

Many of these will be covered more fully in the Townsmen EXTRA, a special edition slated to hit newsstands first thing Friday morning.

Wednesday night's Town Meeting, including the outcome of the proposed smoking regulations, will also be covered in the EXTRA edition of the Townsmen.

Chlorine chemicals provide protection longer

Are you all wet when it comes to knowing how to operate your swimming pool safely? Knowing the facts could help keep you and your family safely in the swim this year.

When it comes to pool chemicals, most consumers consider performance first, studies show. A product's ability to keep a pool or spa clean and sanitary is the crucial factor in the buying decision. That's why most pool owners, experts report, prefer chlorinated pool chemicals. They're used by 90 percent of residential pool owners and 99 percent of public swimming pool operators.

For more than 30 years, pool owners have chosen products that provide stabilized chlorine to pool water, reports the Water Treatment Group for Monsanto Chemical Company's Specialties Division. They prefer chlorinated products because they provide constant water disinfection over a long time, killing bacteria and algae and preventing skin irritation.

Chlorine pool chemicals are also economical, safe, easy to handle and store, require low maintenance, are nontoxic and won't clog pool filters, cause rusting or other pool problems.

Wise pool owners also know that the best choice for purifying water of dangerous germs is chlorinated pool chemicals.

Chlorine products such as dry trichlor tablets have excellent germicidal, algacidal and oxidizing properties, making them highly effective in killing water-borne microorganisms and preventing algae growth. They're also capable of burning out organic debris and other contaminants.

No non-chlorine product outperforms chlorine in all these areas. That's another good reason chlorinated pool chemicals make such a splash with safety-conscious pool owners.

Pressure-treated wood used on most decks

Although years from now it may be easier to see how wise you were in choosing treated wood for that special outdoor project, it pays to go over the advantages of using treated lumber before you buy.

Pressure-treated wood is lumber that has been impregnated with a chemical preservative to make it resistant to attack from termites and fungal decay.

A recent survey of 10,000 homeowners showed that most decks and porches, whether built by a do-it-yourselfer or a contractor, are constructed of wood. The predominate building material for decks is pressure-treated lumber (78 percent of all decks), a product that conserves trees by preserving wood.

The good news for homeowners with questions about the safety of treated lumber comes from Bill Baldwin, vice president of technical and environmental services at Hickson Corp., a company that produces Wolman CCA preservative and licenses the treating companies which produce Wolmanized pressure-treated wood.

"Wolmanized wood is harmless to people, plants, and pets when used as recommended," says Mr. Baldwin.

It also benefits the environment. The Southern Forest Products Association estimates that, without pressure-treated wood, an additional 226 million merchantable trees would be required annually to replace decayed or termite-infested wood products.

Caring for propane-gas grills and cylinders

According to the Barbecue Industry Association, 61 percent of propane and natural gas-grill owners enjoy alfresco cooking year-round, while only 35 percent of charcoal-grill owners cook outdoors throughout the year.

That's one of several key factors to keep in mind when shopping for your next barbecue grill. Barbecued ribs or a succulent roast cooked on the grill don't have to be saved for a summertime patio party. Gas grills are much easier to operate, without the muss and fuss of charcoal grills, so even parkland chefs can roast a Thanksgiving turkey outdoors.

A concern for the environment is another consideration to keep in mind when grill shopping. This is one of the main reasons why clean-burning propane-gas grills are showing the greatest sales gains.

Charcoal grills are already banned in pollution-clogged Los Angeles. Other urban areas are considering similar restrictions.

Propane grills also cost less to operate, at about 24 cents per cookout, compared to approximately $1.13 for charcoal.

But whether the cook is a seasoned barbecue chef or flipping burgers for the first time, the National Propane Gas Association suggests following these safety tips to ensure years of trouble free barbecuing:

- When transporting the propane cylinder for a refill, always keep it in a secure, upright position. Check to be sure the cylinder-valve plug is firmly in place. Never keep a filled cylinder in a hot car or trunk.

- When reconnecting the cylinder to the grill, remove the safety plug, then thread the connector snugly into the valve on the grill, turning it to the left (counterclockwise). Check the connector to make sure it is free of scratches or nicks that could cause leaks. If it is damaged, have your propane dealer replace it.

- Check for leaks by using a leak detection solution available from your local propane supplier, or make a solution of soap and water.

- Brush the solution on all fittings and connectors on the tank, on the weld around the center of the tank and on the valve at the burner end of the fuel line. Growing bubbles in the soap film indicate a leak.

- Most leaks can be stopped by tightening the fittings. Checking for leaks is particularly important with a portable grill where fittings have worked loose during moving.

- If you hear gas escaping or smell the distinctive rotten egg odor of gas around the cylinder-valve connections, turn the burners and cylinder valves off immediately. If you cannot locate the source of the leak, call your propane dealer for assistance. Do not transport a leaking cylinder.

- Never use or store the cylinder indoors. Keep the cylinder valve closed and plugged when empty or not in use.

Copper plumbing has advantages over polybutylene

Thinking about putting in new plumbing? Knowing the facts about copper vs. polybutylene plumbing could prevent your home improvement project from being a total washout.

Choosing the right plumbing material can save you a lot of worry and money. Many people thought they could save money by choosing a plastic plumbing material called polybutylene instead of the slightly more expensive copper. The fact is, many people who picked polybutylene wound up having to pay for costly repairs when their plastic plumbing systems failed. The city of San Antonio, Texas, which installed some 380 miles of polybutylene piping, found it failing at the rate of 1,000 leaks a month.

Copper plumbing, on the other hand, has many advantages polybutylene can't match, according to the Copper Development Association:

- Copper plumbing is built to last - it's virtually maintenance-free.

- Unlike plastic plumbing, copper won't burn or melt in service, or give off toxic gases if exposed to flame.

Copper's an investment - its high quality can actually enhance your home's resale value.

- Copper tubes and joints are strong. They can withstand pressure surges and rapid temperature changes without rupturing.

- Copper's an investment - its high quality can actually enhance your home's resale value.

- Copper meets or exceeds all standard plumbing codes in all 50 states.

- The manufacture of copper today is friendly to the environment and the process is energy efficient.

Copper tube is made largely of recycled material and does not contain foreign oil or petroleum products as plastic does. The U.S. is self-sufficient in copper, with more than 50 percent of many plumbing products derived from recycled materials.

Home owners are rediscovering glass block

Glass block, a building material dating back to the 1830s, is being rediscovered by home owners, interior designers and architects for new and exciting uses.

Offering a unique combination of beauty and practicality, there is no limit to the ways in which glass block can be utilized in the home.

In addition to its popular role as quality replacement windows, glass block is being used for new exterior and interior wall openings; in a variety of creative applications such as room partitions, shower stalls, stairwells, skylights, entryways; and as bases for countertops and bars.

With today's design emphasis on light, bright, open areas, glass block can define an area without being confining. It provides a high degree of visual and acoustical privacy and its crystal-like appearance conveys a mood of delicacy while remaining strong and durable.

Depending on the pattern selected, light can be directed, diffused, reduced or reflected to expand the feeling of space, brighten an area or create a specific mood or feeling.

Glass block is created by fusing two pressed-glass halves together. This results in a partial vacuum which gives glass block an insulating value equal to that of a double-pane window, helping to reduce heating and air conditioning costs.

Thick, break-resistant glass block windows, panels and skylights are created by either mortaring glass block units into place or using various panel framing systems available through distributors. Because glass block is difficult to break, it adds security to a home. Even if the outer face becomes cracked or broken, the inner glass face remains intact, thwarting vandals and intruders.

Installed either professionally or by do-it-yourselfers, glass block eliminates the need for caulking and puttying. There is nothing to rot or rust and condensation is controlled. The only maintenance required is an occasional wash down on the outside and wiping with a damp cloth on the inside.

With all the aesthetic and practical benefits of glass block, it is no wonder that it is being rediscovered by the American homeowner.
